33-35% On World Trade

Accord Reached To Trim Tariffs

GENEVA (AP) — More than four years of Kennedy Round negotiations have finally ended with agreement to cut tariffs an estimated 33 to 35 per cent on world trade now worth $40 billion a year.

The accord between the United States and the world's major commercial nations was reached just before midnight Monday after four intensive day and night sessions during which the negotiations appeared doomed at one point.

The reductions finally hammered out fell short of the 50 per cent over-all cut that had been sought, but they far surpassed any achieved before in tariff negotiations.

The agreement affects more than 80 nations and is expected to result in a big increase in world trade.

William Roth, head of the U.S. delegation, said the result was of "tremendous world importance." He predicted that it would affect between $15 billion and $16 billion in U.S. imports and exports.

The United States exports $27 billion worth of goods a year and imports $19 billion worth.

The principal agreements included in the final package were:

— Tariff reductions on about 6,300 industrial and farm items in world trade, from live animals to waste and scrap. The cuts are reciprocal with every participating nation benefiting from new opportunities to export to the others.

— A higher minimum world grain price of $1.73 a bushel for hard red winter wheat ready to ship at ports on the Gulf of Mexico.

— An international food aid program of 4.5 million tons a year, with contributions from other major industrial countries as well as the United States.

— An antidumping accord to protect businessmen from foreign competitors trying to export goods below cost.

Confer With Council

City Groups Spur Action For Full-Time 'Planner'

Immediate action on the hiring of a full - time planning coordinator for federal projects here was asked by a community delegation during a caucus session Monday night with members of City Council.

The group included representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, the Community Improvement Corp., Trades and Labor Council, Jaycees, Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club, Lions Club and other civic organizations.

"Meaning no disrespect to the mayor, "Shaw said, "the job is too complex and involved for one man to do part time. It takes a man who works only on federal projects seven days a week and thinks about it in his spare time."

Shaw expressed the Chamber's desire to "get going" on the hiring of a qualified man. "We're all in agreement that a man is needed for the job," he declared.

Councilwoman Donna Wilson, however, disagreed. "We're not all in agreement," she said, "and that's what's holding things up."

Council President Ernest Lowe asked what figure the Chamber had in mind as a salary. Shaw said he felt the money paid the coordinator should be contingent on the caliber of the man hired. He urged council to seek a qualified man and then set the salary.

"The city and federal government have spent $50,000 so far," on the project, he declared. "We

16 GIs Victims During Battles In Delta, North Sector

SAIGON (AP) — Hard fighting at both ends of South Vietnam was reported today, with 113 guerrillas killed in two battles with American infantrymen in the Mekong Delta and 52 of the enemy and 16 Americans killed in three clashes in the northern sector.

Red rocket and mortar attacks continued around the clock in the northern provinces, and the Communists lobbed 60 mortar rounds into the U.S. military advisory compound before dawn in downtown Hue.

The U.S. Command reported 99 air missions over North Vietnam Monday, mostly against trucks, roads and river barges, and announced the loss of an F105 Thunderchief jet which the Pentagon said may have crashed in Red China. It was the 542nd U. S. Combat plane reported downed in the air war against North Vietnam.

U.S. officials also announced that 85 Vietnamese civilians were killed in Viet Cong terrorist attacks last week—nearly double the number the week before—while 97 were wounded and 78 were kidnaped. The victims included five workers in the government pacification program killed and two wounded.

Troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division, sweeping Mekong Delta paddy lands long controlled by the Viet Cong, flushed guerrilla forces frequently Monday and twice pushed them into stand-up fights in an area about 40 miles below Saigon.

Aided by air strikes, the infantrymen reported 113 of the enemy killed.

U.S. casualties were not reported.

Red gunners in the northern province of Quang Ngai also brought down six U.S. helicopter gunships supporting troops of the U.S. 101st Airbone Division. One of the choppers was destroyed but big flying crane helicopters lifted the other five out to be repaired.

The paratroopers, part of an Army task force that has moved in to help the thinly spread Marines, suffered 7 killed and 34 wounded in a series of actions Monday.

Was Hit 'Pretty Bad,' Son Writes Mother

LISBON — Mrs. Mary Jane Shumaker of Hanoverton received word Monday noon that her son, Spec. 4 James R. Propst, 20, was hit "pretty bad" in the right arm somewhere in Vietnam.

The soldier printed the message lefthanded, relating he was hit May 2, has had two operations and is awaiting further surgery.

He was graduated from United High School in 1965 and worked at Theron's Country Store at one time. A member of the 9th Division, he has been in Vietnam since January.

Mrs. Shumaker is a deputy in the Clerk of Courts office at the Courthouse.

Must Cease, He Declares In News Talk

Says That Is Path His Government Intends To Follow

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle, in an obvious reference to the Vietnamese war, called today for an end "to the scandal of foreign intervention in Asia."

The French president, in answer to a news conference question about French policy toward the war, told the hundreds of newsmen in the Elysee ballroom France would continue to oppose foreign — meaning American — involvement in Vietnam.

"The scandal of foreign intervention in Asia must cease; that is the path the government intends to follow," he declared.

This was a repetition, in a harsh form, of De Gaulle's position that the United States must withdraw from Vietnam if there is to be peace there.

Summarizing other broad policy aims, De Gaulle said France would keep its national independence, continue to promote East-West detente and strengthen the six-nation European Common Market.

Faced with a national general strike, the president turned to domestic problems. He pledged his government to improve social and economic conditions in the country, the aim of his move to obtain emergency powers in these aras from Parliament.

At the same time, he warned members of the shaky Gaullist parliamentary coalition that any attempt to weaken this thin majority would be "contrary to political morality and the public interest."

This was an apparent reference to Valery Giscard D'Estaing's 42-member Independent Republican party. The Independent Republicans, junior partners in the Gaullist coalition, have shown themselves lukewarm to the government's move for emergency powers, but have not said they would block it.

Final Action Due Employe Pay Hike Bill

Would Set Up Vote On Measure Aiding Industrial Climate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Leaders called for final legislative action today on the big state employe pay raise bill and set the stage for a Senate vote on another measure to enhance Ohio's industrial climate.

At the same time, House and Senate committees called for more testimony on other key bills, foremost among them the $4.9 billion appropriations bill to finance state operations for the two years starting July 1.

Return of the lawmakers from weekend recess was highlighted by the appearance of Dr. John D. Millett, Ohio Regents chancellor, before the House Finance Committee to explain the financial dilemma of the state's higher education program.

Both houses scheduled votes today on the report of a conference committee which resolved differences on the state employe pay bill. Under it, about 45,000 state workers will get boosts of 10 per cent effective July 1 and another 5 per cent step increment a year later.

Some employes in "critical" areas—such as nurses and employes at state institutions—would receive hikes immediately upon signing by the governor. The bill also would increase Ohio's minimum wage from $1.34 to $1.40 an hour to meet the new federal minimum.

Sen. Walter Powell R-4 Butler and other officials said they saw no major opposition to his administration - backed bill to permit counties and cities to issue self-retiring revenue bonds for industrial purposes. Some officials contend municipalities already have such authority but acknowledged the authority has been clouded by certain court decisions.

The Senate passed three bills without dissent and the House gave unanimous approval to a pair of measures during brief floor sessions Monday night.

Hit In North Vietnam

U.S. Jet Feared Down In China

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says a U.S. Air Force jet may have crashed in Red China after being hit by North Vietnamese antiaircraft fire.

The unsolicited report from the Pentagon came Monday only a few hours after the State Department denied three-week-old Communist Chinese charges about alleged U.S. bombings of Red China.

The Pentagon statement said the plane, an F105 Thunderchief, was hit during a Monday attack on military targets near Kep, North Vietnam, about 32 nautical miles northeast of Hanoi.

The pilot of the damaged jet was last heard reporting by radio that he was "heading out," said the Pentagon. The statement said the plane's course indicated the pilot was headed toward the North Vietnam-mainland China border.

Spokesmen said "heading out" could have meant the plane was dropping out of formation or that its crew was bailing out.

The Pentagon said it had no word of the plane's two-man crew.

Red China charged three weeks ago that U.S. planes bombed territory north of the North Vietnamese borders and that two planes were shot down.

"There's no evidence that ordnance from American planes landed on, or came to fall on, Chinese Communist territory," newsmen were told at that time by Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer.

Asked if U.S. planes had been shot down over Red China, he had replied: "I'm advised that careful investigation does not support those charges."

McCloskey would not comment publicly on Red Chinese charges alleging overflights by U.S. planes.

From Fairfield-Waterford District

Group Bids For Transfer To Leetonia School Area

LISBON — Eight residents of the Fairfield - Waterford Local School District asked the Columbiana County Board of Education Monday night to transfer them to the Leetonia Exempted Village School District.

The territory in question is situated on both sides of Route 344 from the Leetonia corporation line eastward to the Kelly Park Rd. and contains approximately 130 acres.

John Mellinger, spokesman for the delegation said, "We are closer to Leetonia, our affiliations with churches, clubs and civic organizations are in Leetonia and we feel that our school connections should be also."

Other parents accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Mellinger were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holt, Mr. aand Mrs. Donald McCoy, Dean Ray and Thomas Reese. All had signed the request which contained 36 signatures — "68 per cent of the property owners in that area," Holt said.

The visitors presented maps of the territory, including a sketch of the proposed line of state Route 11 — the Lake Erie-to-Ohio River Freeway. They said the trip to Fairfield-Waterford schools will be considerably longer after the limited access freeway is built.

The county board voted to table the request until receiving the recommendation of the Fairfield - Waterford board which will meet June 13.

Senator Asks Viet War Be Put Up To UN

Mansfield Had LBJ Backing In 1966; Scotched By Thant

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield proposes placing the Vietnam war squarely before the United Nations—an idea he says U.N. Secretary-General U Thant scotched last year.

Mansfield said Monday in a Senate speech that when he first proposed asking the U.N. Security Council to take up the war issue—in a Nov. 11, 1966, speech in Baltimore—he won backing from President Johnson.

He said Johnson phoned him after the speech and urged him to discuss the matter with Thant and Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Mansfield said Thant opposed the proposal, saying he would prefer to pursue peace talks privately rather than having Vietnam taken either to the Security Council or the U.N. General Assembly.

Mansfield later told The Associated Press he had not previously discussed publicly the President's request and Thant's response.

"I think the secretary-general has had his chance," Mansfield told his colleagues Monday, "He has done everything he can. It is now time to place the matter formally before the Security Council.

"In view of this background, I would think the President might look on this proposal with favor."

Mansfield's proposal, and a call by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., for restrictions on U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, came in the wake of Thant's forecast last week that the Southeast Asian conflict could explode into World War III.

Cooper urged restricting of bombing to infiltration routes near the demilitarized zone dividing the two Vietnams.

He said if such a limitation on air strikes brought any affirmative response from Hanoi, all bombing should be suspended in an effort to get talks started.

Plot Against Johnson At Manila Disclosed

MANILA (AP)—President Johnson and the other government leaders at the seven-nation Manila summit conference on Vietnam last October were kept under "constant surveillance" because of a Communist assassination plot that was uncovered shortly before the meeting, a Philippine presidential spokesman said today.

The spokesman was commenting on a report in Look magazine quoting President Ferdinand E. Marcos as saying that he, President Johnson and South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky were the chief targets of the Communists.

Mansfield said Thant opposed the proposal, saying he would prefer to pursue peace talks privately rather than having Vietnam taken either to the Security Council or the U.N. General Assembly.

Mansfield later told The Associated Press he had not previously discussed publicly the President's request and Thant's response.

"I think the secretary-general has had his chance," Mansfield told his colleagues Monday, "He has done everything he can. It is now time to place the matter formally before the Security Council.

"In view of this background, I would think the President might look on this proposal with favor."

Mansfield's proposal, and a call by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., for restrictions on U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, came in the wake of Thant's forecast last week that the Southeast Asian conflict could explode into World War III.

Cooper urged restricting of bombing to infiltration routes near the demilitarized zone dividing the two Vietnams.

He said if such a limitation on air strikes brought any affirmative response from Hanoi, all bombing should be suspended in an effort to get talks started.

Immediate action on the hiring of a full - time planning coordinator for federal projects here was asked by a community delegation during a caucus session Monday night with members of City Council.

The group included representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, the Community Improvement Corp., Trades and Labor Council, Jaycees, Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club, Lions Club and other civic organizations.

"Meaning no disrespect to the mayor, "Shaw said, "the job is too complex and involved for one man to do part time. It takes a man who works only on federal projects seven days a week and thinks about it in his spare time."

Shaw expressed the Chamber's desire to "get going" on the hiring of a qualified man. "We're all in agreement that a man is needed for the job," he declared.

Councilwoman Donna Wilson, however, disagreed. "We're not all in agreement," she said, "and that's what's holding things up."

Council President Ernest Lowe asked what figure the Chamber had in mind as a salary. Shaw said he felt the money paid the coordinator should be contingent on the caliber of the man hired. He urged council to seek a qualified man and then set the salary.

"The city and federal government have spent $50,000 so far," on the project, he declared. "We

Beaver County Lists 'Light' Voter Turnout

BEAVER — Forenoon voting in today's Pennsylvania primary was reported light by election officials.

The turnout at Midland was also light, poll workers said, but balloting was expected to increase this afternoon and until the polls close tonight at 8.

Candidates are being chosen for county, borough and township offices along with school director posts. Nine special questions on constitutional revision proposals also are being decided.

Was Hit 'Pretty Bad,' Son Writes Mother

LISBON — Mrs. Mary Jane Shumaker of Hanoverton received word Monday noon that her son, Spec. 4 James R. Propst, 20, was hit "pretty bad" in the right arm somewhere in Vietnam.

The soldier printed the message lefthanded, relating he was hit May 2, has had two operations and is awaiting further surgery.

He was graduated from United High School in 1965 and worked at Theron's Country Store at one time. A member of the 9th Division, he has been in Vietnam since January.

Mrs. Shumaker is a deputy in the Clerk of Courts office at the Courthouse.

Group Bids For Transfer To Leetonia School Area

LISBON — Eight residents of the Fairfield - Waterford Local School District asked the Columbiana County Board of Education Monday night to transfer them to the Leetonia Exempted Village School District.

The territory in question is situated on both sides of Route 344 from the Leetonia corporation line eastward to the Kelly Park Rd. and contains approximately 130 acres.

John Mellinger, spokesman for the delegation said, "We are closer to Leetonia, our affiliations with churches, clubs and civic organizations are in Leetonia and we feel that our school connections should be also."

Other parents accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Mellinger were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holt, Mr. aand Mrs. Donald McCoy, Dean Ray and Thomas Reese. All had signed the request which contained 36 signatures — "68 per cent of the property owners in that area," Holt said.

The visitors presented maps of the territory, including a sketch of the proposed line of state Route 11 — the Lake Erie-to-Ohio River Freeway. They said the trip to Fairfield-Waterford schools will be considerably longer after the limited access freeway is built.

The county board voted to table the request until receiving the recommendation of the Fairfield - Waterford board which will meet June 13.

Plot Against Johnson At Manila Disclosed

MANILA (AP)—President Johnson and the other government leaders at the seven-nation Manila summit conference on Vietnam last October were kept under "constant surveillance" because of a Communist assassination plot that was uncovered shortly before the meeting, a Philippine presidential spokesman said today.

The spokesman was commenting on a report in Look magazine quoting President Ferdinand E. Marcos as saying that he, President Johnson and South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky were the chief targets of the Communists.

No Substantial Clues On 3 Missing Boys

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — It has been nearly a week since Craig Dowell, 14, Joey Hoag, 13, and Billy Hoag, 11, were last seen, presumably entering one of the many caves that lead into a spider-like web of passages under the old hometown of Mark Twain.

There have been no substantial clues discovered since the boys were seen last Wednesday afternoon carrying a shovel and flash lights near Murphy's Cave.

In Effort To Avoid Criticism

LBJ Courting Governors In Name Of Partnership

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is courting the nation's governors in the name of federal-state partnership—and in an apparent effort to avoid the kind of criticism once aimed at him by Democratic state executives.

He underscored that courtship Monday with a personal mission to rainy, foggy Windsor Locks, Conn., and with the appointment of a foreign affairs liaison man to represent the administration before the governors.

Johnson spent about 2½ hours with the six New England governors, four of them Democrats, and declared again his dedication to White House—state house cooperation.

"We can succeed in dealing with the modern problems that confront our people in the 20th century only if the federal and the state governments are willing to work together," Johnson said, "with an exchange of ideas and information, and with the true spirit of real partnership."

The White House produced a deluge of data on 31 administration meetings with governors earlier this year, and nine more to come. Former Florida Gov. Farris Bryant and a team of federal officials are conducting those sessions.

At Windsor Locks, Johnson took a personal hand in the campaign. He brought along a dozen top administration officials, four of Cabinet rank.

Around a long mahogany table, they talked with the governors about problems ranging from the future of the New Haven Railroad to the impact of shoe imports on Maine's economy.

Johnson named Winthrop G. Brown, now U.S. ambassador to Korea, to serve as liaison man with all the nation's governors "in connection with all matters concerning our relations with other nations.

"Of course, he will be available to brief the governors and their cabinets at any time upon their request," Johnson said. "Ambassador Brown will speak with the voice of the secretary of state."

Johnson said Brown, as a special assistant to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, will be available to talk about the Vietnam war, import and tariff problems, foreign aid, U.S. forces in Europe and anything else on the minds of the governors.

"Mr. President," said Connecticut Gov. John N. Dempsey, a Democrat, "we're very grateful to you for the wonderful and continued cooperation that you have extended to all of the governors."

Relations between the White House and the nation's state houses have not always been that cordial. Five months ago, a caucus of Democratic governors bluntly blamed the administration for party losses in the 1966 election.

In a meeting at White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., they complained of a lack of communication with Democratic leaders, and said the "Great Society" was moving too fast for the voters.

Legal Authorities Generally OK Court Move On Juveniles

NEW YORK (AP) — Legal authorities generally expressed satisfaction today with the Supreme Court's extension of constitutional protections to juveniles. Dissenters were outspoken however, one calling it "a dreadful blow to the concept of juvenile court."

Many judges across the nation said in an Associated Press survey that the ruling would entail no change in their procedures and that their courts were already practicing the principles laid down by the high court Monday.

But Superior Court Judge Lloyd Shorett of Seattle, Wash., said. "I think it is a dreadful blow to the concept of juvenile court. It is a long step in the wrong direction. It means the entire concept of attempted reformation by juvenile courts in effect since 1900 will go out the window."

In its 8 to 1 decision, the Supreme Court held that juveniles, like adults, are entitled to the following Bill of Rights safeguards:

1. Notice of the charges placed against them.
2. The right to have an attorney's assistance.
3. The right to confront and cross-examine complainants and other witnesses.
4. Protection against self-incrimination, including the privilege of remaining silent.
5. The right to a transcript of the proceedings.
6. The right to have the case reviewed in higher courts.

Shorett was most unhappy over point 2—the right to attorney.

"Many more juveniles facing the court will have lawyers. They will be advised to say nothing and many will be turned loose for lack of other evidence," he said.

An opposite view was taken by John Pemberton, executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union. In a statement issued here, he said the decision "may well be the most important in the present term of the Supreme Court."

It is important, he explained, "because the law must be seen to practice what it preaches if it is to create incentives in juveniles to rehabilitate themselves."

Another who applauded the decision was Judge Orm W. Ketcham in Washington, D.C. He predicted one long-range effect would be to create greater sympathy in legislatures for juvenile courts and for financing related facilities such as diagnostic centers.

Death Investigation Continued By Police

Wellsville police are continuing their investigation into the death Monday morning of Jack Lough, 39, of 303 Broadway.

The Columbiana County coroner's office has issued no final ruling on the cause of death pending study of tests.

Lough was taken to City Hospital over the weekend for treatment of injuries reportedly received in a fight. The body has been taken to the White Funeral Home in Warren.

Three More Ohioans Claimed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Ohioans were among the 97 U. S. servicemen the Defense Department listed Monday as killed in action in Vietnam. Another Ohio serviceman was listed as dead not as a result of hostile action.

Killed by the enemy were Marine Lance Cpl. David A. Dye of Xenia and Army Spec. 4 Jack R. Lenner of Bay Village. Lenner previously had been listed as missing.

Army Spec. 5 William P. Rogers Jr. died of other than hostile action. His widow, Alice, lives at Rt. 1, Martinsville, Clinton County.

Phone Strike Spreads Across Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A walkout of telephone linemen, installers and repairmen spread across the state today, affecting repair work but not curtailing service, a Bell Telephone Co. official reported.

The official said the walkout involves some 12,000 members of the Federation of Telephone Workers of Pennsylvania.

In Beaver County some 125 telephone workers were holding a "continuous protest meeting" in connection with the union stand on the issue. Gilbert Steele, vice president of Local 58, said the men were in sympathy with the action throughout the state.

Post 374 Enrolls Member, Slates Annual Election

James B. Stickler was accepted as a new member when the American Legion Post 374 met Monday night at the post home with 44 present. Vince McGeehan is comandmer.

Members were reminded that officers will be elected Monday from noon until 8 p. m. at the post home. Installation will be June 5.

American Legion Family Day will be held June 25 at Cedar Point, James Cregar, 10th District first vice commander announced. Books of tickets will be available at the post home.

Robert Nutter reported on a County Council meeting held at Wellsville Post 70 Friday when William Grate of Columbiana was elected commander.

Ruth McKenzie and her orchestra will provide music for a dance Saturday night from 10 p.m. at the post home.

Three Are Fined In Chester Case

Three were fined by Chester Mayor Burton Ward Monday following their arrest Saturday night by police after an accident on Route 30.

Charged with driving while intoxicated was Larry Allen Vincent, 18, of Coolidge Ave., East Liverpool, who was fined $100 and costs and given a 10-day suspended jail sentence.

Two brothers, Ron Possage, 19, of Lisbon R.D. 2 and Thomas Possage, 18, each was fined $25 and costs for interfering with a police officer in the performance of his duties.

Ward said the Vincent car was flagged down while police and sheriff's deputies were investigating an accident. When authorities attempted to arrest the driver, the two brothers reportedly became belligerent. The older Possage is being held for Columbiana County probation officer James Miller.

Street Lighting Action Approved

City council Monday night authorized Safety - Service Director Robert Vodrey to enter into a new 10 - year contract with the Ohio Power Co. to provide street lighting.

Councilwoman Donna Wilson told members during the caucus meeting Ohio Power will begin updating the city's lighting soon, replacing the present incandescent street lights with new mercury fixtures. She said work will begin shortly on revamping the company's power system here.

Work will start in the McKinnon Ave. area.

Mayor Deplores 'Vandalism' At Chester Water Facilities

A report that repairs to the pumping station on 1st St. have not yet been completed and comments by Mayor Burton Ward, president, relative to a tour of the city water department marked the Monday night meeting of the Chester Water and Sewage Board.

Ward said a tour of the facilities disclosed that oil-soaked slag had been thrown into the water. Ward produced a plastic bottle filled with the rocks and brackish water. He said other debris also has been hurled into the city reservoir.

"I am offering a $100 award for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons involved," he said.

The mayor said a hole has been cut in the reservoir fence and small children, dogs and cats are able to work their way through the opening. He said there also are piles of dirt, unmowed grass and accumulated grass at the site.

Department employe Leonard Cowey was asked to clean the area.

Ward also pointed out a 28-foot pit covering the drain gate has been practically closed by vandals throwing lumber and other material in it after first breaking the drain cover.

The issue of water meters was raised when Ward said there are meters which were repaired and made ready for use as early as 1963 that are now rusted and corroded on shelves in the pump house.

It was pointed out there are homes in the city receiving water, although they have no meters.

Operations are not back to normal at the emergency pumping station, Ward learned from Harold Cashdollar, a plant worker. Some additional digging and equipment installations are necessary before the facility once again will be in use, Ward was told.

have a city worth $40 million and we shouldn't stop now".

Councilman Harold Maylone said he felt the holdup stemmed from the question of who should select the man for the job.

Mrs. Wilson said so far as she is concerned "there is a man here in our own town, Don Eckert, who can do the job."

Mayor George Willshaw said he undertook the job temporarily to get the ball rolling, "but I can only go so far; we need a coordinator."

Shaw indicated the Chamber feels the coordinator should be free from political entanglements and, pointed out, the federal government will deal only with an established coordinator, not with a councilman, mayor or other politico.

Councilman Frank Duffy asked where the money would come from to pay the man. "We've just spent all our money and had to give up an $80,000 street program this year for salary raises."

He added he would be in favor of the coordinator so long as it didn't cost the citizens any more in taxes and if someone could show him where the money to pay the person's salary could be obtained.

Shaw continued the discussion, saying the city is now at the crossroads. A coordinator can do many things, he added, and even a portion of his salary will be paid by the federal government. As long as we pay federal taxes some of the money should be flowing back into East Liverpool, he declared.

Duffy indicated Carroll V. Hill and Associaties, the company involved in preparing the city's master plan, has recommended only cities with more than 25,000 residents need employ a full-time coordinator. However, Sample said Hill had classed East Liverpool and surrounding area as one needing a full-time coordinator.

Michael Turk, another member of the chamber's delegation, said he received a letter from Hill yesterday telling him the position of coordinator is vital to the city.

Lowe then appointed a three-man committee to meet with a committee from the Chamber to discuss financing in order to speed the project.

The committee includes Sample, chairman; Floyd Murray and Maylone.

During the caucus, Mayor Willshaw presented a letter from Carroll Hill indicating the neighborhood analysis survey must be completed by June 30 along with the housing code. He also noted the transportation study for the city got under way yesterday. He said the neighborhood analysis should take between four and six weeks to complete.

As a result of the letter and comments by Willshaw, Council agreed to continue last night's meeting to May 22 to study and approve the zoning ordinance.

Willshaw told members the transportation study will begin with the study of bus service in the community. He said the first federal money will be received this week for the low - income housing project.

In other business during the caucus session, representatives from the Milliron Co., and Erskin and Sons Trucking Co. requested Council rent them a parcel of land measuring 175 feet by 130 feet at the corner of 2nd and Washington Sts. Owen Owens, a representative of the Mercer (Pa.) trucking firm, said the area would be needed for a mobile office and parking space for the company's trucks. He said the land could be rented on a month - to - month basis, with either party agreeing to terminate on 30 days notice. Owens said the firm would clean up the area and cut the grass. The city would continue to have access to some oil drums on the property. Council promised an answer by Thursday.

Raymond Betteridge told council he has purchased a building on Elm St. and requests the city do something to improve the slope of the street. The matter was referred to the streets committee.

Paul Gill, representing the American Legion posts, requested action on what he termed "a full - size baseball field." He pointed out the Park Commission last year said it was working on two fields, but declared he later learned they were Little League fields. He said the teams he represented needed a field the size of a Colt League diamond for their games. He explained the teams presently are permitted to use the Colt fields twice a week, but added another field is needed for practice.

When he questioned members concerning the whereabouts of the $2,800 appropriated the park board last year, City Auditor Lawrence Zollinger announced $2,100 was turned back to the general fund after only $653 was spent.

"Someone's not doing his job," Gill declared. Council agreed and said it would turn the matter over to the planning committee.

President George Garrod of the F-W board attended, along with Mrs. Eleanor Bretz, Charles Crook and Harold Gray, board members. Gray resides in the territory which Mellinger asked transferred. Supt. Calvin Graber of F-W district also attended.

County Supt. James L. McBride said action to transfer or refuse the request is up to the county board. He explained legal steps transfer proponents can take to get the question on the ballot, but said the entire school district must vote on the issue.

Bargain-Basement Fighters

An interesting phenomenon is exposed by accounts of U.S. attacks on MIG airfields in North Vietnam and Red guerrilla attacks on airfields near Saigon.

The United States sent a heavy concentration of speedy jets with tons of bombs over Communist airfields and knocked out a few planes along the runways.

The guerrillas launched a mortar attack on two bases that lasted less than half an hour. In addition to killing six Americans and wounding 100, the 140mm rockets damaged to some extent 25 planes at one field and an undisclosed number at the second.

The United States is spending billions to keep personnel and sophisticated equipment in Vietnam. The enemy is operating at minimum cost.

The Communists don't even mind being on the short end of the 8 to 1 kill ratio maintained by the United States. With their population they can afford it.

Communist successes in the face of such massive strength are demoralizing.

It is like some rag-tag sandlot baseball team taking on the world champs; and without the advantage of team physicians, trainers, whirlpool baths, standard uniforms, cleated shoes, pain-killing medicines, brand-new bats and flip down sunglasses, battling the champions to a standstill.

U.S. military strategists are being driven in circles by an enemy that makes bamboo booby traps, downs expensive U.S. plane with disconcerting regularity with the antiaircraft weapons, exists with the barest of supplies and uses a minimum of modern weapons supplied by friends.

After years of fighting and billions of dollars the immediate area around Saigon is not immune from attack; even the city of Saigon is not safe from attack.

In their frustration they parrot the familiar call for more troops, more fire power.

That's escalation.

Just Blame Washington

An Associated Press roundup finds 30 states discussing legislation to make Congress send more money back to the states and 10 that already have adopted resolutions urging national legislators to bail out the states.

That is what it amounts to—bailing out.

The states, including the others whose top politicians yammer endlessly about states' rights, want everything that goes with the Good Society, Affluent Living and the More Abundant Life, except taxes.

They want plenty to spend on their problems and plenty more where that came from. But they do not want to inflict cost on their own taxpayers any more than necessary, because taxpayers resent taxes and punish politicos who talk about them.

Taxpayers, in turn, want a good life with plenty of public money but do not want to pick up the check for the goodies to which they either have grown accustomed or would like to grow accustomed.

So the states look enviously at the way the federal government can take in the sheaves, remove the feathers from the goose, filch the cookies out of the jar and levy taxes from front to back and wall to wall with no repercussions.

It can lose a billion dollars in a multi-billion federal budget and no one is the wiser. It can squander more money on a moondoggle than would be required to bring public education abreast of the last third of the 20th century—and no one squawks.

The federal government, being conveniently remote from its taxpayers, can soak them until they're groggy and nothing happens. No wonder states would like to have Washington do the collecting while they do the spending.

It would be manna from heaven, raked up into one big pile on the Potomac, come one, come all and eat your fill! No obligations—just lick the platters clean.

Significant News From Abroad

A miniskirt worn by an actress in the presence of Pope Paul VI has raised a question of propriety.

The question is whether this particular fashion fad denotes disrespect when worn in environments like the Vatican. Visitors ordinarily choose sedate clothes for papal visits.

A further question would seem to be who can determine when a woman's skirt finally has exceeded the bounds of propriety.

Meanwhile, a similar quandary is being entered by the new Greek military government, which has decreed that tourists wearing such evidence of beatnikism as beards, slovenly dress and a general air of bohemianism shall not enter the country.

Another military order issued in Greece the same day forbids members of wedding parties to throw sugared almonds at brides and grooms because sometimes the delicacies have been thrown so accurately they started fights.

The news from abroad sometimes reaches such significant proportions that the news here at home is easier to bear.

No matter how bad things get here, they never descend to the level of outlawing whiskers on men, or skirting the possibility of judging when brevity has outdone itself on the length of a woman's dress.

The question of almonds at weddings never has come up. They're too expensive to throw at newlyweds and almost too expensive to hide in the bottom of nut bowls at wedding receptions.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I have heard it said that East Liverpool is an apathetic town. I, for one, would like to praise this town and its many wonderful people.

On April 25 my son, Aiman 3C Leonard Frank Reed, became critically ill from carbon monoxide fumes which took the life of his steady girlfriend whom he loved dearly (Miss Linda Halfhill of Annesley Road).

Many people were instrumental in saving Frank's life. Among them were Linda's parents and relatives who began searching when Frank and Linda did not return at the usual time. Also Lt. Paul Burson of city police department courageously went beyond the call of duty to aid my son.

I would also like to thank Doctor Horger, Nursing Director Sarah Davis and all the wonderful nurses and aides of the Third Floor North, City Hospital.

To all those who offered words of encouragement, to friends who sent cards and flowers to Frank, to the ministers who prayed at his bedside and to the many people of various religious faiths who prayed or lit candles for my son, thank you.

Frank is now recovering in an Air Force hospital. If anyone would like his address you may contact me.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Our entire family would like to express gratitude and appreciation to the friends, neighbors, relatives and acquaintances who were so kind to us during our period of sorrow over the loss of our beloved daughter Linda.

We are unable, yet, to effectively thank all the persons who offered comfort or their time and energy. Our loss will always be with us, but the warm out-pouring of sympathy that flooded us will help to ease the pain, somewhat. A special thanks goes to the East Liverpool City Police, all the State Highway Patrol, especially Patrolman Cusick, the St. Clair Township Constables and the Columbiana County Sheriff's Office for their help. We will always remain in deep appreciation.

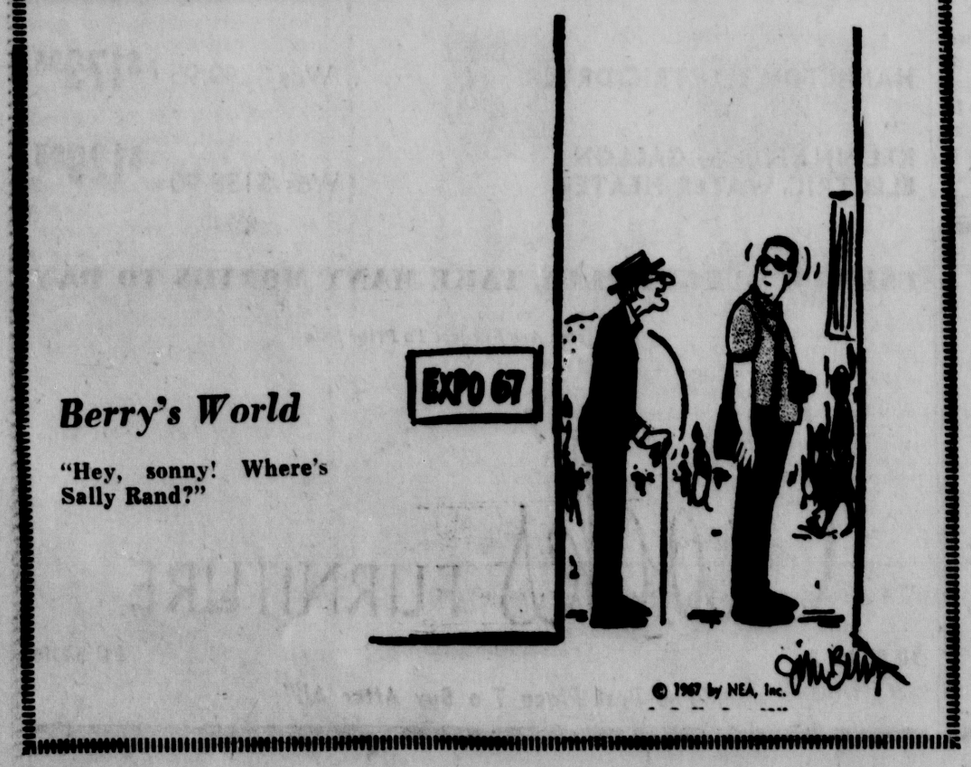
Although the whale lives in water and looks like a huge fish, and can stay beneath the surface for only as long as about 20 minutes—then it must come up to breathe. Before taking in fresh air, it first breathes out through the blowhole (or holes), which usually open on the top of the head. As the hot, exhausted air is expelled, it becomes steamy as it reaches the atmosphere.



Recipe For A Candidate

Too Old To Work

By Art Buchwald

The trouble with the American dream these days is that there has been such an emphasis on youth in our country that a man can be washed up at the age of 40 and not even know it. I didn't realize how serious it was getting until I started trying to find some jobs for friends who were victims of The World Journal Tribune closing.

Art Buchwald

The first question people would ask me was, "How old is he?" If I said he was 40 or older I'd get a shrug and some comment like, "He's too old for us."

It seems to me that if the trend continues the age gap is going to be one of the most serious problems this country faces. It's quite possible in another 10 or 15 years that the following scene might become very common.

Personnel manager: "I see your qualifications are in order except for one thing."

Applicant: "What's that?"

Personnel manager: "I'm afraid you're too old for the job."

Applicant: "What do you mean, too old for the job? I'm 23."

P. M.: "Yes, I see that. We don't hire anyone over 21 years of age."

Applicant: "But I just got out of college. I've never had a job. How can I be too old?"

P.M.: "ACCORDING to our pension planners who have the final say as to how old our employes should be, anybody above 21 years of age is over the hill."

Applicant: "How can I be over the hill if I've never been on?"

"P.M.: "There's no reason to get testy about this. We have nothing personal against you. It's just that we have found through experience that men of your age really don't do their best work when they reach 23 or 24 years of age. Oh, there have been exceptions, but on the whole we'd rather take our chances with the younger man who can stand up under the physical and mental pressures of the job."

Applicant: "I appreciate your thinking, but I can assure you I can do anything a 21-year-old can do. I'm still very strong. I play tennis twice a week. I'm in excellent health and I was even captain of my football team last year."

P.M.: "Sir, I don't doubt everything you say, but we can't judge you as an individual. Statistics show your age group is prone to colds, backaches and bursitis. Even if we wanted to hire you, our group health insurance advisers wouldn't let us. They can't afford to take the risk with a 23-year-old man, no matter how healthy he may look."

Applicant: "But if I can't get a job now that I've finished college, what am I going to do the rest of my life?"

P.M.: "Why don't you retire and move to Florida?"

Applicant: "What the hell am I going to retire on if I never worked?"

P.M.: "THAT'S NOT our fault, is it? Don't forget, this company is in a fiercely competitive market and if we hire older people like yourself we'll have to explain it to our stockholders. Besides, it looks bad when a customer comes in and sees a 23-year-old man hunched over his desk."

Applicant: "I hate to beg, but I really need this job. This is the fourth company I've been to which says I'm too old. Please, mister, give me a chance. I still have 10 good years to me."

P.M.: "I'm sorry, sir. I don't wish to be cold-hearted about this, but I think you should face reality. You're washed up. You should have planned for your old age years ago."

Applicant: "Let me ask one more question and then I'll go. How old are you?"

Personnel Manager: "13."

Men, Not Parties

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

For years now the issues in presidential elections have been individuals and not parties. It will be that way again unless the Republicans can make a case for themselves before the 1968 election.

The difference between the parties are getting blurred as the Republicans, finally looking at the clock, emerge from their intense conservatism of Franklin D. Roosevelt's time, even though they suffered a temporary relapse in 1964.

But they were already out of date in the New Deal days. And, as they moved closer to the Democratic view, which has been a slow job forward, the issues between them and the Democrats diminished.

This has forced voters to choose more between men than parties.

IN 1948, although the Republicans tried to ram him against the wall with their sneers, jeers and criticism, President Harry S. Truman through courage and aggressiveness beat New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey almost single-handedly.

By 1952 the country was sick of the mudslinging, hatreds, divisions and uneasiness created by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and wanted political and mental peace. If the Republicans had chosen McCarthy as their candidate, or someone like him, there would have been a real issue in the campaign. But they didn't.

Who could better restore sanity than Dwight D. Eisenhower? Who could better settle the Korean War? His rival, Adlai E. Stevenson, compared with him, was an untried, political nobody. Stevenson never had a chance.

This was pretty much the same story in 1956 when Eisenhower beat Stevenson again, except that by then McCarthy had been silenced and the Korean War was over. And the nation, which had recaptured its sanity, was doing all right. Why change?

As for the parties — there was no real issue between them. They hadn't distinguished themselves in Congress although each had controlled it for two years in Eisenhower's first term.

And the 1960 race, again without real political issues, was a personality contest between Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Kennedy won by a whisker.

IN 1964 Sen. Barry Goldwater made himself the issue in his campaign against President Johnson. He represented a return to the 19th century. His party went down with him.

In the years between the 1960 and 1964 contests the parties themselves were only so-so although the Democrats ran Congress. So the big issue three years ago was the choice between Johnson and Goldwater.

At this moment the would - be Republican candidates aren't saying much that means much. And their party, if it has hopes of raising some domestic issue against Johnson in 1968, has kept it out of sight.

The Vietnamese war will certainly be an issue in one way or another, unless by election time next year it is over. But the Republicans are already divided among themselves on that.

Congress, still under the Democrats, made a brilliant record in 1965. But Johnson can hardly hope to rest on the 1965 performance in the 1968 campaign. Next year, therefore, he undoubtedly will try to get Congress to perform.

But as of now there are no real party issues. If Johnson's handling of the war finally becomes the big talking point, again the voters will have to decide between men, not parties.

Odd Facts

George Sand was the famous pen name of a French woman novelist, Anandine Aurore Lucie Dupin, the Baroness Dudevant (1804-1876). In addition to her writings, she was famous for her defiance of convention by such acts as smoking cigars and the wearing of men's clothes.

The first woman graduate of a law school in the United States was Mrs. Ada H. Kepley, who was graduated from the Union College of Law at Chicago in 1870.

Senator Spurs No-Strike Action

WASHINGTON — In a closed-door, showdown session with some tense but even-tempered Senators seeking to prod President Johnson into whipping up an emergency strike-curbing law, the Chief Executive said he has had the "best brains" in the country working on it but that they simply can't agree on a solution.

He was deadly serious when he said the experts simply have no answer. They can't get together on any legal extinguisher to put out the labor-management flash fires.

It was in the privacy of the Cabinet room one recent Friday that the President faced his determined interlocutors — a small group led by Senators Jack Javits and Wayne Morse.

"You know I love you, Mr. President," said Javits, "but I have my responsibilities. You pointed out in '66, in your State of the Union message, that you would have legislation on emergency strikes. We are still waiting for it."

"I made that statement," the president replied, "and I'll deliver on it. I appointed a task force and put some of the country's best brains on it to give me advice. And there is great disagreement among these experts. When they give me a report, I'll carry it to the Congress.

"I did not realize the enormity of these problems."

THE PRESIDENT then asked the Senators not to mix the temporary rail moratorium bill with the matter of permanent national strike legislation. He asked them to go up the Hill and deliver to him action to head off a wartime rail strike.

They did. But no one was in a rougher, perhaps more angry, mood than the veteran horse-breeder and infighter, Wayne Morse, the gentleman from Oregon who had been discussing the matter at breakfasts and lunches with the President.

There was nothing bitter or Pollyannish in Morse's voice or credo as we talked later about the great industrial rebellions of 1967. The Senator — who has as much knowledge of the labor movement as any consortium of university advanced studies libraries — has a simplistic approach

The public and the nation come first. No right to strike, no right to lockout is absolute.

Especially in time of war. And this is wartime.

HE WANTS no government by lockout and picket line, but rather government by law "doing justice to all our people."

"It is just too bad that we don't have labor and management leadership in this country," asserted Morse, "which would give a no-strike, no-lockout pledge during this war. All during World War II labor sat with me (on the National War Labor Board — and voted finality in case after case.

"I'm saying now the controlling thing is the war. We just can't take a position that they have the right to strike. This is a relative right. But what of the public right which is so far superior?

"I am going to fight for a no-strike, no-lockout pledge from labor and management as we had during the war. They can't accuse me of not being a liberal, either.

"I'm opposed to this Vietnam war completely. No one wants to get out of Vietnam as much as I do. I have fought with the President on this. Everybody knows how I stand.

"BUT NO ONE can justify stopping the railroads. It is unthinkable in wartime. There must be no stoppage on the lines. And we should have that old no-strike, no-lockout agreement for the duration."

Morse also opposed seizure of the rails by the U.S. Such action, he conjectured, would result in long litigation. It would also be costly.

"The government would have to put in personnel and defend itself in court for ten years against all sorts of suits. The price eventually would be in the millions.

"They're playing politics with seizure," he mused. "There is only one way out now — that no-strike pledge. Of course, the President doesn't legislate. Congress regulates interstate commerce.

"We need not wait for him and his experts. I'm going to keep fighting whether the President sends up legislation or not, if we don't get that no-strike, no-lockout agreement."

Congress has no fury like Wayne Morse spurred.

But they were already out of date in the New Deal days. And, as they moved closer to the Democratic view, which has been a slow job forward, the issues between them and the Democrats diminished.

This has forced voters to choose more between men than parties.

IN 1948, although the Republicans tried to ram him against the wall with their sneers, jeers and criticism, President Harry S. Truman through courage and aggressiveness beat New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey almost single-handedly.

By 1952 the country was sick of the mud-slinging, hatreds, divisions and uneasiness created by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and wanted political and mental peace. If the Republicans had chosen McCarthy as their candidate, or someone like him, there would have been a real issue in the campaign. But they didn't.

Who could better restore sanity than Dwight D. Eisenhower? Who could better settle the Korean War? His rival, Adlai E. Stevenson, compared with him, was an untried, political nobody. Stevenson never had a chance.

This was pretty much the same story in 1956 when Eisenhower beat Stevenson again, except that by then McCarthy had been silenced and the Korean War was over. And the nation, which had recaptured its sanity, was doing all right. Why change?

As for the parties — there was no real issue between them. They hadn't distinguished themselves in Congress although each had controlled it for two years in Eisenhower's first term.

And the 1960 race, again without real political issues, was a personality contest between Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Kennedy won by a whisker.

IN 1964 Sen. Barry Goldwater made himself the issue in his campaign against President Johnson. He represented a return to the 19th century. His party went down with him.

In the years between the 1960 and 1964 contests the parties themselves were only so-so although the Democrats ran Congress. So the big issue three years ago was the choice between Johnson and Goldwater.

At this moment the would - be Republican candidates aren't saying much that means much. And their party, if it has hopes of raising some domestic issue against Johnson in 1968, has kept it out of sight.

The Vietnamese war will certainly be an issue in one way or another, unless by election time next year it is over. But the Republicans are already divided among themselves on that.

Congress, still under the Democrats, made a brilliant record in 1965. But Johnson can hardly hope to rest on the 1965 performance in the 1968 campaign. Next year, therefore, he undoubtedly will try to get Congress to perform.

But as of now there are no real party issues. If Johnson's handling of the war finally becomes the big talking point, again the voters will have to decide between men, not parties.

Odd Facts

George Sand was the famous pen name of a French woman novelist, Anandine Aurore Lucie Dupin, the Baroness Dudevant (1804-1876). In addition to her writings, she was famous for her defiance of convention by such acts as smoking cigars and the wearing of men's clothes.

The first woman graduate of a law school in the United States was Mrs. Ada H. Kepley, who was graduated from the Union College of Law at Chicago in 1870.

Senator Spurs No-Strike Action

WASHINGTON — In a closed-door, showdown session with some tense but even-tempered Senators seeking to prod President Johnson into whipping up an emergency strike-curbing law, the Chief Executive said he has had the "best brains" in the country working on it but that they simply can't agree on a solution.

He was deadly serious when he said the experts simply have no answer. They can't get together on any legal extinguisher to put out the labor-management flash fires.

It was in the privacy of the Cabinet room one recent Friday that the President faced his determined interlocutors — a small group led by Senators Jack Javits and Wayne Morse.

"You know I love you, Mr. President," said Javits, "but I have my responsibilities. You pointed out in '66, in your State of the Union message, that you would have legislation on emergency strikes. We are still waiting for it."

"I made that statement," the president replied, "and I'll deliver on it. I appointed a task force and put some of the country's best brains on it to give me advice. And there is great disagreement among these experts. When they give me a report, I'll carry it to the Congress.

"I did not realize the enormity of these problems."

THE PRESIDENT then asked the Senators not to mix the temporary rail moratorium bill with the matter of permanent national strike legislation. He asked them to go up the Hill and deliver to him action to head off a wartime rail strike.

They did. But no one was in a rougher, perhaps more angry, mood than the veteran horse-breeder and infighter, Wayne Morse, the gentleman from Oregon who had been discussing the matter at breakfasts and lunches with the President.

There was nothing bitter or Pollyannish in Morse's voice or credo as we talked later about the great industrial rebellions of 1967. The Senator — who has as much knowledge of the labor movement as any consortium of university advanced studies libraries — has a simplistic approach

The public and the nation come first. No right to strike, no right to lockout is absolute.

Especially in time of war. And this is wartime.

HE WANTS no government by lockout and picket line, but rather government by law "doing justice to all our people."

"It is just too bad that we don't have labor and management leadership in this country," asserted Morse, "which would give a no-strike, no-lockout pledge during this war. All during World War II labor sat with me (on the National War Labor Board — and voted finality in case after case.

"I'm saying now the controlling thing is the war. We just can't take a position that they have the right to strike. This is a relative right. But what of the public right which is so far superior?

"I am going to fight for a no-strike, no-lockout pledge from labor and management as we had during the war. They can't accuse me of not being a liberal, either.

"I'm opposed to this Vietnam war completely. No one wants to get out of Vietnam as much as I do. I have fought with the President on this. Everybody knows how I stand.

"BUT NO ONE can justify stopping the railroads. It is unthinkable in wartime. There must be no stoppage on the lines. And we should have that old no-strike, no-lockout agreement for the duration."

Morse also opposed seizure of the rails by the U.S. Such action, he conjectured, would result in long litigation. It would also be costly.

"The government would have to put in personnel and defend itself in court for ten years against all sorts of suits. The price eventually would be in the millions.

"They're playing politics with seizure," he mused. "There is only one way out now — that no-strike pledge. Of course, the President doesn't legislate. Congress regulates interstate commerce.

"We need not wait for him and his experts. I'm going to keep fighting whether the President sends up legislation or not, if we don't get that no-strike, no-lockout agreement."

Congress has no fury like Wayne Morse spurred.

nessmen, especially those in the import and export fields. Some of the savings will be passed on to the consumers.

It will be at least six to eight weeks, however, before businessmen will know what benefits will accrue to them.

The deadline for the signing by the 53 nations taking part in the Kennedy Round negotiations is June 30. That day marks the expiration of President Johnson's powers under the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 to cut American tariffs as much as 50 per cent on almost all of the 6,300 items on the U.S. tariff list. Because President John F. Kennedy pushed the 1962 act through the U.S. Congress, the negotiations that resulted from it were given his name.

Congressional approval is not required for most of the tariff reductions that were negotiated. But Roth told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in March that the agreements on grain would be incorporated into a separate treaty.

GRADUATION GIFTS

One of the most sentimental occasions for many parents and fond aunts and uncles is the day when a dearly loved youngster graduates. Certainly, to mark this occasion you want something lasting, and preferably, something that can be engraved with a meaningful message. Fine jewelry to many, is the perfect answer to this gift problem.

It always seems to be easier to select something for a young lady graduate than for the young man. However, tradition degrees a fine watch for both, particularly as the parents' gift. A strand of cultured pearls, jewel set pendant, or gold, engraved bracelet, are other good ideas. Young men like their first really good pair of cuff links, or a signet ring. A set of dress studs is also very useful for the male graduate about to enter college where formal dress will be worn for many occasions.

Pierced earrings, amusing gold or gem-set pins, and rings, are all good ways to celebrate the occasion while starting your children off on a heritage of fine jewelry. I believe that a person instinctively knows and feels more confident when they are wearing the real thing. Graduation is certainly the ideal time to delight them with a lasting memento of the occasion and of your own good taste and thoughtfulness. We have added some interesting new pieces to our stock specifically for graduation gifts.

Do stop in soon and look at them if you have this type of item to purchase this month.

nessmen, especially those in the import and export fields. Some of the savings will be passed on to the consumers.

It will be at least six to eight weeks, however, before businessmen will know what benefits will accrue to them.

The deadline for the signing by the 53 nations taking part in the Kennedy Round negotiations is June 30. That day marks the expiration of President Johnson's powers under the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 to cut American tariffs as much as 50 per cent on almost all of the 6,300 items on the U.S. tariff list. Because President John F. Kennedy pushed the 1962 act through the U.S. Congress, the negotiations that resulted from it were given his name.

Congressional approval is not required for most of the tariff reductions that were negotiated. But Roth told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in March that the agreements on grain would be incorporated into a separate treaty.

GRADUATION GIFTS

One of the most sentimental occasions for many parents and fond aunts and uncles is the day when a dearly loved youngster graduates. Certainly, to mark this occasion you want something lasting, and preferably, something that can be engraved with a meaningful message. Fine jewelry to many, is the perfect answer to this gift problem.

It always seems to be easier to select something for a young lady graduate than for the young man. However, tradition degrees a fine watch for both, particularly as the parents' gift. A strand of cultured pearls, jewel set pendant, or gold, engraved bracelet, are other good ideas. Young men like their first really good pair of cuff links, or a signet ring. A set of dress studs is also very useful for the male graduate about to enter college where formal dress will be worn for many occasions.

Pierced earrings, amusing gold or gem-set pins, and rings, are all good ways to celebrate the occasion while starting your children off on a heritage of fine jewelry. I believe that a person instinctively knows and feels more confident when they are wearing the real thing. Graduation is certainly the ideal time to delight them with a lasting memento of the occasion and of your own good taste and thoughtfulness. We have added some interesting new pieces to our stock specifically for graduation gifts.

Do stop in soon and look at them if you have this type of item to purchase this month.

However, a certain combination of conditins appears indispensable for a tornado's formation: moist, warm air at low levels and cool, dry air at higher levels; a southerly wind at the surface and a strong wind blowing over it from a different direction.

He said he will present information showing how other cities handled the transition from funeral home-operated service to private or municipal operations. He was accompanied by Alvin L. Arner Jr.

Council discussed the possibility of placing the responsibility with the fire department. Representatives of the department said they will discuss the matter at their next meeting.

Eight Adjudged Delinquent In Fire At School

CLEVELAND (AP) — Eight youths, two of them 13-year-old girls, were adjudged delinquent Monday for their part in the $250,000 fire that ruined Giddings Elementary School last month in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

Six of the eight were sentenced to the Ohio Youth Commission by Judge Walter G. Whitlatch of Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court. Two brothers in the group were given suspended sentences and placed on probation.

Technically, the six sent to the Youth Commission face sentences that would keep them in state institutions until they are 21. The average stay with the commission, however, ranges from 5 to 20 months.

Probation officers quotes the youngsters as saying boredom was their prime motivation in setting fire April 8 to the 79-year-old school that served about 950 pupils.

The girls bought gasoline, according to testimony, and held back a wire mesh screen on a basement window so two boys could crawl inside the school.

Spring Play Set At Oak Glen High

Oak Glen High School's spring play, "The Mouse That Roared," will be presented in the Little Theater Thursday and Friday beginning at 8 p. m.

The story concerns a small duchy called Fenwick which loses its sole export and only means of livelihood to manipulators in the United States.

Charles W. Morris is faculty producer and director.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the cast and at the door.

Higher Tuition Or Tax Increase

2 Alternatives Are Listed To Meet Education Needs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio college students must pay $150-$200 more tuition a year or the legislature will have to increase taxes to meet increasing costs of higher education, says the chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents.

Dr. John D. Millett listed these "as the only two alternatives" Monday night in testimony before the House Finance Committee.

Millett said the tuition boost would offset an $85 million difference between the $253 million in Gov. James A. Rhodes' 1967-69 higher education budget and the $338 million estimated by regents as the amount needed for capital improvements and increased salaries and services in the coming biennium.

The chancellor emphasized that he mentioned the alternatives only as such and that "I am not recommending either of them." But he told newsmen in advance of the committee meeting that he personally favors an increase in tax revenues "as being in the best long-range interest of the state."

Millett said only two states—Vermont and New Hampshire—have higher tuition at state-supported schools than Ohio now. He added that tuition at Ohio State University already is $100-$125 above other universities in the Big Ten.

He listed resident student tuitions at Ohio's state-supported schools (three quarters or two semesters) as ranging from $300 at Central State University to $544 at the University of Toledo. In between are Akron $416, Bowling Green, $420, Cleveland State $417, Kent State $390, Miami $390, Ohio $330, Ohio State $390 and Wright State $474. None of the figures includes student service fees.

Millett said the regents will discuss possible revisions in their capital improvements plan for the upcoming biennium at their meeting here Friday. Without mentioning it by name, he apparently referred to the changes resulting from voter defeat of the Ohio Bond Commission proposal in the May 2 primary election.

Ohio's immediate and long-range capital improvements in higher education and other fields had been pinned to the ill-fated commission.

Millett told the committee the governor's budget included only those increases needed for enrollment increases under the state's per pupil support program.

But he added: "I feet the governor treated higher education as generously as he could within the limitations of available revenue."

Courses In Fitting, Welding Planned June 15 At Lisbon

LISBON — The Lisbon Board of Education is awaiting approval of the U. S. Office of Education to begin a course in fitting and welding under the manpower development training program.

Supt. Joe W. Driscoll said approval has been received from the State Department of Education for the adult training scheduled to begin June 15. Plans are to give eight hours of instruction daily under the direction of George Schorsten of the high school staff.

Seventeen juniors from Lisbon and neighboring high schools are taking welding this school year in the $28,000 addition which opened last fall. Next year, both juniors and seniors will be enrolled.

Twenty-three adults received certificates last Friday night on completing a 12-week course in beginning welding. Schorsten was in charge of the three-hour classes sponsored by the school board and the State Bureau of Employment Security.

Receiving certificates were Raymond Campbell, Jerry Lemley, George Mick and Roger Nold, East Liverpool; Dean Tamati and J. Hunt Pressed For Three In Bank Holdup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The search continued today for two, possibly three, daring holdup men who pulled off the most lucrative of 36 bank robberies reported in Ohio so far this year, escaping with $45,283 from a shopping center branch bank here Monday.

Two masked gunmen entered the Great Southern Shopping Center branch of the Ohio National Bank about 10:30 a.m. and forced 29 persons inside—14 employes and 15 customers—to lie on the floor.

Bank officials said the thieves methodically cleaned out counter money from tellers' cages, but made no attempt to take cash from the vault.

The amount taken was large, a bank spokesman said, because merchants laden with Mother's Day receipts had just made deposits. One deposit alone was more than $18,000, he said.

Had the men been half an hour later, most of the cash would have been counted and placed in the vault.

Police believe a third man may have been involved, as getaway driver.

The masked men wore tan topcoats and dress hats pulled low. They made a speedy escape in an auto stolen from a shopping center customer. The auto was found abandoned in a nearby parking lot a few minutes later.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: How do you weather shingles and fences on and around a new home?

Our shingles look as if they were cut from raw lumber yesterday and the wooden fence is all new. We want them to look rustic and weather-beaten like some we have seen.

TOMMY.

DEAR TOMMY: I'll tell you what I did and it worked:

Weathered shingles and fences mean exactly what it states. It gets old, and ages from the weather. This takes time, dust and moisture.

I used my garden hose and repeatedly sprinkled them!

I don't know what it does, but if you spray it often enough with the fine spray from your hose, and it gets wet thoroughly and then dries out, it ages oodles faster. If you doubt this, try it on one end of your fence. Just watch those boards soak up the moisture!

Don't paint raw wood if you want to get a fine weathered old look. It just won't work. I'm not talking bout stains.

If you want the popular old weathered look like the French use . . . spray it with water anytime you have the garden hose running.

And, dear Tommy, it won't age overnight. It'll take a while.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I hope the girls who make strawberry jam or shortcake will try my way of slicing the strawberries:

After washing and hulling them, I get out a wire egg slicer, put one large berry (or two medium) in it and slice away.

This is a real timesaving idea — no cut thumbs and no juice wasted either.

MARY VOSBURG.

DEAR HELOISE: When I purchase a new pair of draperies or launder old ones, I pleat them up and down with my fingers in accordance with the pleats at the top. Then at the bottom where the hem is, I gather the pleats together and loosely tie a cord around the end.

I leave the cord on for several days (or a week) and believe it or not, the pleats are formed perfectly.

ASTRID BERNTSTON.

DEAR GALS: If you happen to be lucky enough to inherit or have someone give you one of those beautiful leather-lined purses . . . .

Don't close it when storing it for a long time. Always stuff it full of crumpled newspapers and leave the top or fastener open!

This will help eliminate moisture and mildew because the paper absorbs the moisture.

These beautiful purses cost so much we should take care of them.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Before serving a hot baked potato, roll it on a hard surface or between two mitted hands. This loosens the inside of the potato and makes it easier to eat. There are no lumps . . . it's all nice and flaky.

And if one likes to dump the potato out of the skin, it falls out without any fuss or muss.

SANDRA HOOVER.

DEAR HELOISE: Now that gardening time is with us once more, I would like to pass along a suggestion for watering the shrubbery that is planted near the porch or patio.

Use a soaking type of hose — the flat kind with holes in one side. Weave this hose through the tops of the shrubs making sure that the holes point downwards — not upwards or sideways.

Then turn the water on.

The water will run down hhe branches and thoroughly soak the ground near the main stem and roots. It will not spray on the porch or the chairs and rugs.

Shrubbery will be more thoroughly watered this way and in a shorte time.

Be sure to use this method with well-established plants that will not break under the weight of the hose.

Higher Tuition Or Tax Increase

2 Alternatives Are Listed To Meet Education Needs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio college students must pay $150-$200 more tuition a year or the legislature will have to increase taxes to meet increasing costs of higher education, says the chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents.

Dr. John D. Millett listed these "as the only two alternatives" Monday night in testimony before the House Finance Committee.

Millett said the tuition boost would offset an $85 million difference between the $253 million in Gov. James A. Rhodes' 1967-69 higher education budget and the $338 million estimated by regents as the amount needed for capital improvements and increased salaries and services in the coming biennium.

The chancellor emphasized that he mentioned the alternatives only as such and that "I am not recommending either of them." But he told newsmen in advance of the committee meeting that he personally favors an increase in tax revenues "as being in the best long-range interest of the state."

Millett said only two states—Vermont and New Hampshire—have higher tuition at state-supported schools than Ohio now. He added that tuition at Ohio State University already is $100-$125 above other universities in the Big Ten.

He listed resident student tuitions at Ohio's state-supported schools (three quarters or two semesters) as ranging from $300 at Central State University to $544 at the University of Toledo. In between are Akron, $416, Bowling Green, $420, Cleveland State $417, Kent State $390, Miami $390, Ohio $330, Ohio State $390 and Wright State $474. None of the figures includes student service fees.

Millett said the regents will discuss possible revisions in their capital improvements plan for the upcoming biennium at their meeting here Friday. Without mentioning it by name, he apparently referred to the changes resulting from voter defeat of the Ohio Bond Commission proposal in the May 2 primary election.

Ohio's immediate and long-range capital improvements in higher education and other fields had been pinned to the ill-fated commission.

Millett told the committee the governor's budget included only those increases needed for enrollment increases under the state's per pupil support program.

But he added: "I feet the governor treated higher education as generously as he could within the limitations of available revenue."

Courses In Fitting, Welding Planned June 15 At Lisbon

LISBON — The Lisbon Board of Education is awaiting approval of the U. S. Office of Education to begin a course in fitting and welding under the manpower development training program.

Supt. Joe W. Driscoll said approval has been received from the State Department of Education for the adult training scheduled to begin June 15. Plans are to give eight hours of instruction daily under the direction of George Schorsten of the high school staff.

Seventeen juniors from Lisbon and neighboring high schools are taking welding this school year in the $28,000 addition which opened last fall. Next year, both juniors and seniors will be enrolled.

Twenty-three adults received certificates last Friday night on completing a 12-week course in beginning welding. Schorsten was in charge of the three-hour classes sponsored by the school board and the State Bureau of Employment Security.

Receiving certificates were Raymond Campbell, Jerry Lemley, George Mick and Roger Nold, East Liverpool; Dean Tamati and J. Lee Todd, Salem; Donald Harmon and Kenneth Metz, Leetonia; David Schrelli, East Palestine; Robert Coppock and Joe Hoey, Columbiana; Ronald Coppock, Rogers; Herman Noling, Kensington, and Hubert Buchannan, Paul Buckley, Al Cook, Hugh Cooper, Norman Day, James Foster, James Nisson, Gene Schrader, Eugene Tolson and Cecil Ullom, Lisbon.

Hunt Pressed For Three In Bank Holdup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The search continued today for two, possibly three, daring holdup men who pulled off the most lucrative of 36 bank robberies reported in Ohio so far this year, escaping with $45,283 from a shopping center branch bank here Monday.

Two masked gunmen entered the Great Southern Shopping Center branch of the Ohio National Bank about 10:30 a.m. and forced 29 persons inside—14 employes and 15 customers—to lie on the floor.

Bank officials said the thieves methodically cleaned out counter money from tellers' cages, but made no attempt to take cash from the vault.

The amount taken was large, a bank spokesman said, because merchants laden with Mother's Day receipts had just made deposits. One deposit alone was more than $18,000, he said.

Had the men been half an hour later, most of the cash would have been counted and placed in the vault.

Police believe a third man may have been involved, as getaway driver.

The masked men wore tan topcoats and dress hats pulled low. They made a speedy escape in an auto stolen from a shopping center customer. The auto was found abandoned in a nearby parking lot a few minutes later.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: How do you weather shingles and fences on and around a new home?

Our shingles look as if they were cut from raw lumber yesterday and the wooden fence is all new. We want them to look rustic and weather-beaten like some we have seen.

Board Discusses Drainage Needs

A drainage problem at Westgate School and adjoining Patterson Field was discussed during a meeting of the Board of Education Monday night.

The board agreed to meet at the school next Monday evening to inspect the site and discuss recommendations made by George Bloomgren, city engineer, and Safety - Service Director Robert Vodrey.

Harry McConville, board member, reported the water is causing the blacktop on the parking area at the rear of the school to deteriorate. He also pointed out there is an erosion problem and said the drainage system is not adequate.

Richard Smith, board member, said he had checked the school during Monday's rain and said something should be done.

IN OTHER business, the board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Alice Cooper, an elementary teacher at Neville School, effective the end of the present term. She plans to retire.

The Lincoln and Taft Home and School Associations were granted permission to hold a kindergarten at each of the schools for the 1967-68 school term.

The Celli Music Center was granted permission to rent Westgate Auditorium May 22 and 23 for a music festival for the Catholic schools. The charge will be $75 each night.

The tentative list of high school graduates was approved. There are 383 graduating Seniors this year, compared with 410 in 1966. Supt. Paul Blair said the class in 1968 will be larger.

Checks for $50 were presented Mrs. Kathleen Kelly, Miss Helen McGregor, James Martin and Bruce Roush from the Martha Holden Jennings Foundation. They received the money for attending a series of lectures at Kent State University under the foundation program. Miss Eleanor Mountford also attended the lectures, but was unable to attend the board meeting last night to receive her check.

Smith commended the teachers, commenting the school has "a lot of dedicated people." He also commended the choir for its annual concert, stating it was "professional."

A LETTER was read from T. V. Utterback of the building section of the Ohio Department of Education on the request from several contractors for extension of time due to the delay caused when the East Elementary building was delayed because of court action. He said the requests will be filed and pointed out that extensions are not granted automatically. If the contractors cannot complete the job on time, then when the deadline nears, the requests will be taken into consideration, Utterback said.

Jackman Vodrey, president of the Educational Development Council, discussed a survey of teachers made by one of the council's committees. Vodrey said he was speaking on behalf of Glenn Waight, who was unable to attend.

In the survey, the teachers indicated the need for a teacher aid program in the schools if possible, Vodrey said, and suggested the board investigate.

During the discussion that followed, it was pointed out federal funds are available for some programs of this type and that Tony Laneve, local federal coordinator, already has checked into the financial phase of teacher aids.

Supt. Blair said it would cost approximately $33,000 a year to place aide in each of the elementary buildings, two in the junior high schools and three in the high school. He said all the money allotted East Liverpool schools is being used and it would require the phasing out of a present program to set up the teacher aid program.

Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, president, suggested the board make its own survey of the teachers, but it was pointed out the East Liverpool Teachers Association is planning to do this.

JOHN WOOMER, board member, asked Vodrey if one of the aims of the council was to help pass bond levies. Vodrey said this was not in the bylaws, but believes it would be acceptable. The council has not lost sight of the fact there is a real need for money in the system, Vodrey said.

Vodrey also said the passage of levies was "uppermost in the minds of the organizers of the council."

Supt. Blair asked to meet with the EDC executive committee to discuss the appropriate time to begin a campaign on behalf of a levy. Although nothing definite was reported, it was indicated a levy may be placed on the November ballot.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I never expected you, a person concerned with molding values for young people, to use a coarse and vulgar word when describing a girl who was not born with a boutiful measure of nature's blessings — namely good looks.

You began your advice to a young man who wondered if he was obligated to take out a newcomer to the city, by saying — "if the girl is a dog. . . ."

The term "dog" for a plain-looking firl is a cheap and degrading manner of expression which I bitterly resent. I'd like to know who sets the standards. By what shallow criteria are they judging? Some of the so-called "dogs" have a fine set of working brains and a sharp sense of humor. Several "dogs" I have known have sparkling personalities and are stimulating company.

How about setting an example for our young people by putting an end to such crass and thoughtless use of the language? — HOMELY HANNAH.

Dear Hannah: If a girl has a fine set of working brains, a sharp sense of humor and a sparkling personality, she is no dog.

Moreover, beauty is no guarantee that a girl will be popular. Many a good-looking dame is sitting home nights with her beautiful face and spectacular measurements because she is dumb, and poor company. (P.S.: No letters, please, from you birds at Yale requesting the names and addresses of these dumb girls.)

Rumpus Room

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I both have grown children from previous marriages. We love them all, and they must love us, too, judging from the frequency of their visits. But now I have a problem and I beg your assistance.

Last night we had invited a couple to dinner. Both my husband and I were looking forward to the evening with these new friends whom we had hoped to get to know better.

I prepared a beautiful meal. Just as we were enjoying some delightful conversation over our coffee, my husband's daughter and her family barged in.

The children looked like fugitives from a pigpen. They jumped on the furniture and demanded cake and soda pop, which they proceeded to spill on the chairs and sofa. They fought, screamed, pounded on the piano and ordered "Paw Paw" to give them a horsey-back ride on his shoulders.

The guests stuck it out for longer than I would have in someone else's home. I was chagrined, to say the least. Our grandchildren are normal and I'm not criticizing them. I am, however, unhappy about not having been able to enjoy the evening with our guests.

My husband says we cannot tell his children they are unwelcome at certain times because they would be hurt. Is there a solution, Ann? — MAW MAW.

Dear Maw: Of course there's a solution, but it means putting you relationship on a mature, civilized basis, which is not easy once you have allowed your children to regard your home as an around-the-clock recreation center.

Tell them you'd appreciate a telephone call before they come. This means, of course, that you must show them the same courtesy. Being related does not give people a license to impose on each other, but it's amazing how many folks believe otherwise.

Confidentially

To Worried Wife: The attorney's office is an excellent place.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I prepared a beautiful meal. Just as we were enjoying some delightful conversation over our coffee, my husband's daughter and her family barged in.

The children looked like fugitives from a pigpen. They jumped on the furniture and demanded cake and soda pop, which they proceeded to spill on the chairs and sofa. They fought, screamed, pounded on the piano and ordered "Paw Paw" to give them a horsey-back ride on his shoulders.

The guests stuck it out for longer than I would have in someone else's home. I was chagrined, to say the least. Our grandchildren are normal and I'm not criticizing them. I am, however, unhappy about not having been able to enjoy the evening with our guests.

My husband says we cannot tell his children they are unwelcome at certain times because they would be hurt. Is there a solution, Ann? — MAW MAW.

Dear Maw: Of course there's a solution, but it means putting you relationship on a mature, civilized basis, which is not easy once you have allowed your children to regard your home as an around-the-clock recreation center.

Tell them you'd appreciate a telephone call before they come. This means, of course, that you must show them the same courtesy. Being related does not give people a license to impose on each other, but it's amazing how many folks believe otherwise.

Confidentially

To Worried Wife: The attorney's office is an excellent place.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Clemente's Biggest Night Comes In 8-7 Loss To Reds

Drives In 7 Runs, Clubs 3 Homers

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates were marking time until Roberto Clemente's next trip to the plate.

But Cincinnati's Tony Perez got there first, leaving Clemente with a night to remember — and an empty feeling.

Perez' run-scoring double in the 10th inning gave the National League-leading Reds an 8-7 victory over the Pirates — and nullified the biggest single-game spree of Clemente's career.

The Pittsburgh superstar drove in all of his team's runs with three towering homers and a double, moving into the league lead in both batting and run production.

"This is the biggest day I ever had — in a game that we lost," he sighed. "I've never hit three homers in a game before. I wish we had won it."

Clemente, whose batting average soared to .390 while his RBI mark jumped to 24, socked a bases-empty homer in the ninth inning that capped the personal binge and gave the Pirates a 7-5 lead.

But Lee May's two-run homer pulled the Reds even in the bottom of the ninth and Perez' fourth hit — a booming drive to dead center field off reliever Juan Pizarro in the 10th — knocked in the winning run.

While Cincinnati moved three games ahead of the second-place Pirates, the Houston Astros ended a five-game tailspin by edging Los Angeles 5-3 on Bob Aspromonte's two-run triple in the 10th inning.

Ernie Banks' three-run homer and two-run blasts by Lee Thomas and Billy Williams carried the Chicago Cubs to a 9-3 victory over San Francisco in an afternoon game. New York and Atlanta were rained out.

Kansas City trimmed California 5-2 in the American League while two games—Baltimore at Boston and Detroit at Washington—were postponed because of rain.

Clemente lashed two-run homers off Milt Pappas in the first and fifth innings, sending Pittsburgh ahead 4-0, then doubled two runs across in the seventh before slamming his sixth homer of the year in the ninth.

The Reds scored three runs in the sixth, knocking out Pirate starter Bob Veale, and added two more in the seventh on Perez' run-scoring double and an RBI single by May.

Perez singled before May's tying homer in the ninth, then delivered the winning hit with two on in the 10th.

The Astros tagged LA relief ace Phil Regan with his first loss in almost a year. Regan had won 15 straight since last May 13.

He came on at the start of the 10th, gave up a single by Joe Morgan and retired the next two hitters before walking Rusty Staub intentionally to get at Aspromonte.

Banks' sixth homer capped a four-run wrapup burst in the ninth for the Cubs, who have won seven of their last eight starts. Williams rapped three singles in addition to his homer for a total of nine hits in his last 10 at-bats.

Kansas City extended its winning string to four games as Bert Campaneris ignited two scoring rallies with singles and rookie Tony Pierce pitched one-hit relief over the final 2 1-3 innings, preserving John (Blue Moon) Odom's first victory.

Pacing Star Had Broken Hoof Bone But Competed

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Romulus Hanover, who won the $178,064 Messenger Stakes, the first leg of pacing's Triple Crown, raced most of last year with a broken bone in his left front hoof.

Driver Billy Haughton disclosed the fact Monday in the wake of his colt's decisive 2¼-length victory over Best of All in record time of 1:59 1-5 Saturday night in harness racing's richest race.

"I haven't told many about it, but Romulus raced most of last year with a broken bone in his front hoof," Haughton said. "In fact, I didn't tell the owner about it until Christmas."

He referred to John Froehlich, master of Farmstead Acres of Glen Head, N.Y., owner of the 3-year-old pacer.

"It happened up at Vernon Downs last July," Haughton said. "He finished sixth in the Meadowlands Farm, a 2-year-old early closer. An X-ray showed a small bone broken in his left front hoof.

"I asked the doc, 'What do we do?' he replied 'Don't do anything. He isn't lame'."

Romulus finished eighth in his next start at Buffalo Raceway on Aug. 2, showing a tendency to duck for the rail. He won his next two starts at the Meadows and Yonkers. He then finished his 2-year-old career with four straight victories, apparently fully recovered.

Romulus' over-all record now is 15 victories in 24 starts with a bankroll of $219,958. The colt is a full brother to Romeo Hanover, last year's pacing Triple Crown winner, who goes after his 19th straight victory Saturday night at Roosevelt in the $91,000 Realization in his first start as a 4-year-old.

Torres Rates 9-5 Edge Over Tiger

Challenger Needs Quick Start At Foe

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The first three rounds are expected to tell the story tonight when Nigeria's Dick Tiger defends his light-heavyweight title in a return 15-round bout with ex-champion Jose Torres at Madison Square Garden.

"If Torres doesn't knock him out or soften him up in the first three rounds then I don't think he'll win," Roger Rouse said today.

"You better root for me," Torres said to Rouse. "We'll do more business. I'm gonna knock him out within 10 rounds."

Rouse is the No. 1 contender from Anaconda, Mont. He has been promised a shot at the winner within 90 days.

"I've been waiting so long for a title shot that I'm losing my hair," said the Westerner. "I may be the first fighter ever to wear a wig in the ring for a title fight."

Torres is a 9-5 favorite to regain the 175-pound division crown he lost to the 37-year-old Tiger on a unanimous decision in 15 rounds at the Garden last Dec. 16.

The 31-year-old Puerto Rican was a 3-1 favorite when he was soundly whipped by the older, shorter and lighter Tiger. The veteran Nigerian had been dethroned as middleweight (160 pounds) champion eight months earlier by Emile Griffith.

The first Torres-Tiger fight drew a crowd of 13,654 and a gross gate of $100,488 plus $60,000 for television.

This time the Garden is looking for a crowd of 10,000 and a gate of between $75,000 and $100,000 plus another $60,000 for national television. New York will be blacked out of the television. Starting time is 10 p.m., EDT.

The first fight lacked knockdowns and real excitement. Hence, the expected smaller crowd.

Tiger, outweighed 175 pounds to 167, took the play in the first two rounds in a surprising turnabout, wore down the sluggish Torres in the middle rounds with his body punching and finished strongly.

It was Torres' first loss in three years and snapped a 13-fight victory streak.

The general opinion among the experts agreed with Rouse — if Torres doesn't get away quickly, against a fighter who never has been stopped, he probably will lose.

Tiger's record is 56-15-3, including 25 knockouts. Torres' record is 39-2-1, including 27 knockouts. He's been stopped once.

Tonight's light heavyweight title fight between Dick Tiger and Jose Torres will be carried live, beginning at 10, over WSTV, Channel 9, Steubenville.

Trainer Handled Tom Rolfe Same Way

Damascus To Stay Away From Pimlico Until Race

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP) — A television viewer in California Saturday will see more of Damascus racing in the Preakness Stakes than regulars at Pimlico do all week.

Trainer Frank Whiteley Jr. is following the same seclusion plan with Damascus as he did with Tom Rolfe two years ago. He'll do his training at Laurel race course, 25 miles away, truck over a few hours before the $150,000-added race and be back home before dark.

If Damascus can duplicate Tom Rolfe's 1965 performance, there will be no faulting Whiteley's system. Tom Rolfe sneaked in, ran off with the Preakness and went on to be voted best 3-year-old of his year.

Damascus already has paralleled one Tom Rolfe performance by finishing third in the Kentucky Derby. He went off the betting favorite May 6, but trailed John Galbreath's Proud Clarion and Barbs Delight, both of whom will tackle the 1 3-16 mile Preakness.

Whiteley, who never uses two words when one will suffice or one when none will do, confirmed he has the same plans for Damascus as Tom Rolfe. The brief telephone conversation:

"Will you bring him over to Pimlico during the week?"

"I doubt it very much."

"How long before the race will you bring him on Saturday?"

"Couldn't say that right now."

"Are you going to work him out at Laurel?"

"Ease him today or Wednesday."

"Well, if he does the same as Tom Rolfe, you'll be all right."

"If I'm lucky, yes."

Whiteley did work out Tom Rolfe at Pimlico a couple of days before his Preakness victory. But he did so under an assumed name.

Not long after nailing down the Preakness first prize of $128,100, Tom Rolfe was in a truck headed back to Laurel. In the front seat, holding on his lap a reproduction of the Woodlawn Vase, which has been a racing trophy since 1860, was Whiteley.

The trainer is a native of Maryland, a real homebody. While Damascus was born in Kentucky, the son of Sword Dancer and Kerala, he has other Maryland connections.

He is owned partly by Mrs. Thomas Bancroft, who lives near Sandy Spring, Md. It is not far from the town of Damascus.

The jockey silks are among the oldest and most famous in racing, the red polka dots on a white background of the late William Woodward Sr. He is a former chairman of the Jockey Club, overseer of horse racing in the United States, and once proprietor of the famous Belair Stud Farm in southern Maryland.

His 84-year-old widow is the other owner of Damascus.

2 NHL Clubs Make Trades

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins, weary of seeing small forwards get banged around, boasted added muscle up front today with the acquisition of Phil Esposito, Ken Hodge and Fred Stanffield from the Chicago Black Hawks.

The Bruins gave up hard-hitting defenseman Gilles Marotte, center Pit Martin and minor league goalie Jack Norris to obtain the three forwards in the deal completed shortly before National Hockey League rosters were frozen at midnight in preparation for the expansion draft.

"We gained needed strength up front as well as size," Milt Schmidt said after his first trade as the Bruins' new general manager.

"We hated to give up Marotte, a promising, tough, young defenseman, but we had to give up something to get what we wanted," Schmidt added.

Esposito, who packs 187 pounds on a 6-foot frame, tied for seventh among the NHL's top scorers the past season. The 25-year-old center scored 21 goals and had 40 assists for 61 points while playing on a line with Bobby Hull and Chico Maki.

The Bruins finished last in the 1966-67 season. Chicago won the NHL championship, but was eliminated by Toronto in the Stanley Cup semifinals.

Orioles' Epstein Calls It Quits; Heads For Home

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mike Epstein, a talented baseball player with an offer to become a professional wrestler, heads home today for a public relations job.

So did other clubs, who sought to swing a deal with the Orioles for the youngster who couldn't break into the Baltimore lineup.

So did Epstein, who thought he was ready this season for the major leagues and balked at being ordered back to Rochester of the International League on 24-hour recall.

Harry Dalton, the Orioles' director of player personnel, said Monday the club expected big things from Epstein in the future and would trade him this season "only if he could improve our major league club with a player of outstanding caliber."

Dalton said he sympathized with Epstein's desire to play in the major leagues now, but added, "We cannot operate our ball club to satisfy his wants alone."

But Dalton did say Epstein would be traded early next season if he had not yet made the Baltimore club.

"We sincerely feel that Mike is weakening his chances of being dealt off to another major league club by going home," Dalton said in a lengthy statement issued Monday night by the club's front office.

Dalton at the time was with the team in Boston, and Epstein was completing a visit with relatives in New York.

"The Baltimore club is not so rich in talent that it can afford to trade players because in any one year it does not have a regular position for them to play," the statement said.

"There are quite a few players in our organization, both at a major and minor league level, who are not playing regularly for the Orioles, but could be regulars on other big league clubs."

A source in New York said Epstein reiterated his plan to call it quits, and said he would begin driving to the West Coast today.

Pending further word from Epstein, the Rochester team will place him on the suspended list, and halt payment on his salary, estimated at about $9,000 for the 1967 season.

While Epstein was in New York, he was offered a wrestling contract by promoter Willie Gilzenberg of Newark, N.J., who said the Orioles' rookie would be "sure-fire box office."

Gilzenberg said he offered Epstein a guarantee of $25,000 to train and learn the business for one year and $100,000 a year thereafter.

Epstein acknowledged receipt of the offer and said, "You never know," but his chuckle indicated he didn't plan to hit the mat trail.

Clay's Attorneys Ask For Additional Time

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge was to hold a hearing today on new motions by lawyers for Cassius Clay to delay the boxer's trial on criminal charges of draft evasion and to open Selective Service files for use in preparing his defense.

Lawyers Hayden Covington of New York and Quinnan Hodges of Houston filed motions Monday in federal district court in Houston and before a panel of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals sitting in Jacksonville, Fla.

The Jacksonville petition sought a delay of Clay's June 5 trial in Houston in the criminal indictment against him until the civil suit Clay brought against his draft board is settled before the Appeals Court in its October sitting. Hodges said Monday night the petition had been denied.

The Houston motions seek a continuance of the trial from June 5, alleging that it is "physically and humanly impossible" for the lawyers to make ready by that date.

Clay's defense will be based in part upon an allegation that draft boards are weighted with white members and exlude Negroes.

On April 28 in Houston, his adopted hometown, the boxer refused to take the Army oath as a draftee. He claimed military exemption as Muhammad Ali, Muslim minister. Within hours, he was stripped of his world heavyweight title and on May 8, a federal grand jury in Houston returned the indictment against him.

The opening men's golfing event at the Country Club finished in a two-way tie Saturday as 13 teams competed.

Placing third in the handicap division was a team of Donald Burbick, Wayne Rice, R. C. Martin and Pat DiPasquale with a 31-31-62.

Prizes went to Dick Smith Jr. who was closest to the pin on No. 4 while Dr. H. F. Banfield won the event of No. 6. Rick Crable turned in the longest drive on No. 9 and 18 holes.

Ernie Banks' three-run homer and two-run blasts by Lee Thomas and Billy Williams carried the Chicago Cubs to a 9-3 victory over San Francisco in an afternoon game. New York and Atlanta were rained out.

Kansas City trimmed California 5-2 in the American League while two games—Baltimore at Boston and Detroit at Washington—were postponed because of rain.

Clemente lashed two-run homers off Milt Pappas in the first and fifth innings, sending Pittsburgh ahead 4-0, then doubled two runs across in the seventh before slamming his sixth homer of the year in the ninth.

The Reds scored three runs in the sixth, knocking out Pirate starter Bob Veale, and added two more in the seventh on Perez' run-scoring double and an RBI single by May.

Perez singled before May's tying homer in the ninth, then delivered the winning hit with two on in the 10th.

The Astros tagged LA relief ace Phil Regan with his first loss in almost a year. Regan had won 15 straight since last May 13.

He came on at the start of the 10th, gave up a single by Joe Morgan and retired the next two hitters before walking Rusty Staub intentionally to get at Aspromonte.

Banks' sixth homer capped a four-run wrapup burst in the ninth for the Cubs, who have won seven of their last eight starts. Williams rapped three singles in addition to his homer for a total of nine hits in his last 10 at-bats.

Kansas City extended its winning string to four games as Bert Campaneris ignited two scoring rallies with singles and rookie Tony Pierce pitched one-hit relief over the final 2 1-3 innings, preserving John (Blue Moon) Odom's first victory.

Pacing Star Had Broken Hoof Bone But Competed

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Romulus Hanover, who won the $178,064 Messenger Stakes, the first leg of pacing's Triple Crown, raced most of last year with a broken bone in his left front hoof.

Driver Billy Haughton disclosed the fact Monday in the wake of his colt's decisive 2¼-length victory over Best of All in record time of 1:59 1-5 Saturday night in harness racing's richest race.

"I haven't told many about it, but Romulus raced most of last year with a broken bone in his front hoof," Haughton said. "In fact, I didn't tell the owner about it until Christmas."

He referred to John Froehlich, master of Farmstead Acres of Glen Head, N.Y., owner of the 3-year-old pacer.

"It happened up at Vernon Downs last July," Haughton said. "He finished sixth in the Meadowlands Farm, a 2-year-old early closer. An X-ray showed a small bone broken in his left front hoof.

"I asked the doc, 'What do we do?' he replied 'Don't do anything. He isn't lame'."

Romulus finished eighth in his next start at Buffalo Raceway on Aug. 2, showing a tendency to duck for the rail. He won his next two starts at the Meadows and Yonkers. He then finished his 2-year-old career with four straight victories, apparently fully recovered.

Romulus' over-all record now is 15 victories in 24 starts with a bankroll of $219,958. The colt is a full brother to Romeo Hanover, last year's pacing Triple Crown winner, who goes after his 19th straight victory Saturday night at Roosevelt in the $91,000 Realization in his first start as a 4-year-old.

Torres Rates 9-5 Edge Over Tiger

Challenger Needs Quick Start At Foe

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The first three rounds are expected to tell the story tonight when Nigeria's Dick Tiger defends his light-heavyweight title in a return 15-round bout with ex-champion Jose Torres at Madison Square Garden.

"If Torres doesn't knock him out or soften him up in the first three rounds then I don't think he'll win," Roger Rouse said today.

"You better root for me," Torres said to Rouse. "We'll do more business. I'm gonna knock him out within 10 rounds."

Rouse is the No. 1 contender from Anaconda, Mont. He has been promised a shot at the winner within 90 days.

"I've been waiting so long for a title shot that I'm losing my hair," said the Westerner. "I may be the first fighter ever to wear a wig in the ring for a title fight."

Torres is a 9-5 favorite to regain the 175-pound division crown he lost to the 37-year-old Tiger on a unanimous decision in 15 rounds at the Garden last Dec. 16.

The 31-year-old Puerto Rican was a 3-1 favorite when he was soundly whipped by the older, shorter and lighter Tiger. The veteran Nigerian had been dethroned as middleweight (160 pounds) champion eight months earlier by Emile Griffith.

The first Torres-Tiger fight drew a crowd of 13,654 and a gross gate of $100,488 plus $60,000 for television.

This time the Garden is looking for a crowd of 10,000 and a gate of between $75,000 and $100,000 plus another $60,000 for national television. New York will be blacked out of the television. Starting time is 10 p.m., EDT.

The first fight lacked knockdowns and real excitement. Hence, the expected smaller crowd.

Tiger, outweighed 175 pounds to 167, took the play in the first two rounds in a surprising turnabout, wore down the sluggish Torres in the middle rounds with his body punching and finished strongly.

It was Torres' first loss in three years and snapped a 13-fight victory streak.

The general opinion among the experts agreed with Rouse — if Torres doesn't get away quickly, against a fighter who never has been stopped, he probably will lose.

Tiger's record is 56-15-3, including 25 knockouts. Torres' record is 39-2-1, including 27 knockouts. He's been stopped once.

Fight On Channel 9

Tonight's light heavyweight title fight between Dick Tiger and Jose Torres will be carried live, beginning at 10, over WSTV, Channel 9, Steubenville.

Trainer Handled Tom Rolfe Same Way

Damascus To Stay Away From Pimlico Until Race

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP) — A television viewer in California Saturday will see more of Damascus racing in the Preakness Stakes than regulars at Pimlico do all week.

Trainer Frank Whiteley Jr. is following the same seclusion plan with Damascus as he did with Tom Rolfe two years ago. He'll do his training at Laurel race course, 25 miles away, truck over a few hours before the $150,000-added race and be back home before dark.

If Damascus can duplicate Tom Rolfe's 1965 performance, there will be no faulting Whiteley's system. Tom Rolfe sneaked in, ran off with the Preakness and went on to be voted best 3-year-old of his year.

Damascus already has paralleled one Tom Rolfe performance by finishing third in the Kentucky Derby. He went off the betting favorite May 6, but trailed John Galbreath's Proud Clarion and Barbs Delight, both of whom will tackle the 1 3-16 mile Preakness.

Whiteley, who never uses two words when one will suffice or one when none will do, confirmed he has the same plans for Damascus as Tom Rolfe. The brief telephone conversation:

"Will you bring him over to Pimlico during the week?"

"I doubt it very much."

"How long before the race will you bring him on Saturday?"

"Couldn't say that right now."

"Are you going to work him out at Laurel?"

"Ease him today or Wednesday."

"Well, if he does the same as Tom Rolfe, you'll be all right."

"If I'm lucky, yes."

Whiteley did work out Tom Rolfe at Pimlico a couple of days before his Preakness victory. But he did so under an assumed name.

Not long after nailing down the Preakness first prize of $128,100, Tom Rolfe was in a truck headed back to Laurel. In the front seat, holding on his lap a reproduction of the Woodlawn Vase, which has been a racing trophy since 1860, was Whiteley.

The trainer is a native of Maryland, a real homebody. While Damascus was born in Kentucky, the son of Sword Dancer and Kerala, he has other Maryland connections.

He is owned partly by Mrs. Thomas Bancroft, who lives near Sandy Spring, Md. It is not far from the town of Damascus.

The jockey silks are among the oldest and most famous in racing, the red polka dots on a white background of the late William Woodward Sr. He is a former chairman of the Jockey Club, overseer of horse racing in the United States, and once proprietor of the famous Belair Stud Farm in southern Maryland.

His 84-year-old widow is the other owner of Damascus.

2 NHL Clubs Make Trades

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins, weary of seeing small forwards get banged around, boasted added muscle up front today with the acquisition of Phil Esposito, Ken Hodge and Fred Stanffield from the Chicago Black Hawks.

The Bruins gave up hard-hitting defenseman Gilles Marotte, center Pit Martin and minor league goalie Jack Norris to obtain the three forwards in the deal completed shortly before National Hockey League rosters were frozen at midnight in preparation for the expansion draft.

"We gained needed strength up front as well as size," Milt Schmidt said after his first trade as the Bruins' new general manager.

"We hated to give up Marotte, a promising, tough, young defenseman, but we had to give up something to get what we wanted," Schmidt added.

Esposito, who packs 187 pounds on a 6-foot frame, tied for seventh among the NHL's top scorers the past season. The 25-year-old center scored 21 goals and had 40 assists for 61 points while playing on a line with Bobby Hull and Chico Maki.

The Bruins finished last in the 1966-67 season. Chicago won the NHL championship, but was eliminated by Toronto in the Stanley Cup semifinals.

Orioles' Epstein Calls It Quits; Heads For Home

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mike Epstein, a talented baseball player with an offer to become a professional wrestler, heads home today for a public relations job.

So did other clubs, who sought to swing a deal with the Orioles for the youngster who couldn't break into the Baltimore lineup.

So did Epstein, who thought he was ready this season for the major leagues and balked at being ordered back to Rochester of the International League on 24-hour recall.

Harry Dalton, the Orioles' director of player personnel, said Monday the club expected big things from Epstein in the future and would trade him this season "only if he could improve our major league club with a player of outstanding caliber."

Dalton said he sympathized with Epstein's desire to play in the major leagues now, but added, "We cannot operate our ball club to satisfy his wants alone."

But Dalton did say Epstein would be traded early next season if he had not yet made the Baltimore club.

"We sincerely feel that Mike is weakening his chances of being dealt off to another major league club by going home," Dalton said in a lengthy statement issued Monday night by the club's front office.

Dalton at the time was with the team in Boston, and Epstein was completing a visit with relatives in New York.

"The Baltimore club is not so rich in talent that it can afford to trade players because in any one year it does not have a regular position for them to play," the statement said.

"There are quite a few players in our organization, both at a major and minor league level, who are not playing regularly for the Orioles, but could be regulars on other big league clubs."

A source in New York said Epstein reiterated his plan to call it quits, and said he would begin driving to the West Coast today.

Pending further word from Epstein, the Rochester team will place him on the suspended list, and halt payment on his salary, estimated at about $9,000 for the 1967 season.

While Epstein was in New York, he was offered a wrestling contract by promoter Willie Gilzenberg of Newark, N.J., who said the Orioles' rookie would be "sure-fire box office."

Gilzenberg said he offered Epstein a guarantee of $25,000 to train and learn the business for one year and $100,000 a year thereafter.

Epstein acknowledged receipt of the offer and said, "You never know," but his chuckle indicated he didn't plan to hit the mat trail.

Clay's Attorneys Ask For Additional Time

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge was to hold a hearing today on new motions by lawyers for Cassius Clay to delay the boxer's trial on criminal charges of draft evasion and to open Selective Service files for use in preparing his defense.

Lawyers Hayden Covington of New York and Quinnan Hodges of Houston filed motions Monday in federal district court in Houston and before a panel of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals sitting in Jacksonville, Fla.

The Jacksonville petition sought a delay of Clay's June 5 trial in Houston in the criminal indictment against him until the civil suit Clay brought against his draft board is settled before the Appeals Court in its October sitting. Hodges said Monday night the petition had been denied.

The Houston motions seek a continuance of the trial from June 5, alleging that it is "physically and humanly impossible" for the lawyers to make ready by that date.

Clay's defense will be based in part upon an allegation that draft boards are weighted with white members and exlude Negroes.

On April 28 in Houston, his adopted hometown, the boxer refused to take the Army oath as a draftee. He claimed military exemption as Muhammad Ali, Muslim minister. Within hours, he was stripped of his world heavyweight title and on May 8, a federal grand jury in Houston returned the indictment against him.

Placing third in the handicap division was a team of Donald Burbick, Wayne Rice, R. C. Martin and Pat DiPasquale with a 31-31-62.

Prizes went to Dick Smith Jr. who was closest to the pin on No. 4 while Dr. H. F. Banfield won the event of No. 6. Rick Crable turned in the longest drive on No. 9 and 18 holes.

Jo Prentice Wins Ladies Golf Tourny

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Jo Ann Prentice, the tall blonde from Pensacola, Fla., won the $16,800 Dallas Civitan Open Golf Tournament Monday and became a strong endorser of chewing gum and a certain cold drink.

She chewed gum for the first time — three sticks during the final round — and found it helped her nerves. The cold-drink stand stopped her ball when, needing a par to win the tournament, she fired over the green on No. 18.

She was 30 feet off the green and would have been out of bounds except for the convenient cold-drink stand. She chipped to within 18 inches of the hole, sank the putt for a par and a four-over-par 75 and 281 for 72 holes.

It was just a stroke more than the pressing Judy Kimball, who had birdied 18 with an 18-inch putt. This put it all up to Miss Prentice, who followed in the next threesome. Miss Kimball wound up with a 73 for 282.

Miss Prentice won $2,475 to vault from eight to fifth place among the year's leading money winners. Sandra Haynie, who had 291 and won $386, continued as No. 1 with $6,296.

Kathy Whitworth finished third with 283, won $1,540 and pulled into second place with $5,940.

"Maybe you'll get on the payroll of the chewing gum manufacturer and the cold-drink people for giving them this plug," someone told the smiling Miss Prentice as she relaxed from the tension of winning her first tournament in three years.

Miss Prentice's 281 tied the record for the tournament. She also said wind that gusted up to 25 miles per hour bothered her some.

Apparently the wind bothered everybody because there was only one sub-par round fired Monday. That was by Carol Mann, whose 69 gave her 284 and fourth money of $1,240.

Miss Mann is the girl who plays despite a pinched disc in her back that will eventually force her to have an operation.

Jo Prentice Wins Ladies Golf Tourny

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Jo Ann Prentice, the tall blonde from Pensacola, Fla., won the $16,800 Dallas Civitan Open Golf Tournament Monday and became a strong endorser of chewing gum and a certain cold drink.

She chewed gum for the first time — three sticks during the final round — and found it helped her nerves. The cold-drink stand stopped her ball when, needing a par to win the tournament, she fired over the green on No. 18.

She was 30 feet off the green and would have been out of bounds except for the convenient cold-drink stand. She chipped to within 18 inches of the hole, sank the putt for a par and a four-over-par 75 and 281 for 72 holes.

It was just a stroke more than the pressing Judy Kimball, who had birdied 18 with an 18-inch putt. This put it all up to Miss Prentice, who followed in the next threesome. Miss Kimball wound up with a 73 for 282.

Miss Prentice won $2,475 to vault from eight to fifth place among the year's leading money winners. Sandra Haynie, who had 291 and won $386, continued as No. 1 with $6,296.

Kathy Whitworth finished third with 283, won $1,540 and pulled into second place with $5,940.

"Maybe you'll get on the payroll of the chewing gum manufacturer and the cold-drink people for giving them this plug," someone told the smiling Miss Prentice as she relaxed from the tension of winning her first tournament in three years.

Miss Prentice's 281 tied the record for the tournament. She also said wind that gusted up to 25 miles per hour bothered her some.

Apparently the wind bothered everybody because there was only one sub-par round fired Monday. That was by Carol Mann, whose 69 gave her 284 and fourth money of $1,240.

Miss Mann is the girl who plays despite a pinched disc in her back that will eventually force her to have an operation.

Junior Editors Quiz on HONEY

QUESTION: Why is honey sweet?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: To live and work, both men and animals need special foods to build their bodies and give energy. We call the body-building foods proteins. Different kinds of fats and sugars serve as the fuel needed to liberate energy. Sugar is a very important fuel food. We don't need to eat a lot of sugar by itself, because such starchy foods as bread and potatoes turn to sugar after we have eaten them. The bee doesn't eat bread and potatoes. It eats honey. Honey is sweet because it has sugar. The bee needs this sugar as fuel. But a bee doesn't fly to a flower and come back with honey. It is after pollen—which it moistens with honey and packs into carrying bags on its hind legs—and nectar, a thin, sugary juice secreted by the flower. A bee has a kind of carrying-tank inside its body (shown in white on top) in which it takes nectar to the hive. There the nectar is exposed to warm air which thickens it and turns it to honey, a wonderful food for both bees and humans. The pollen brought back gives the bees the protein they need.

Council Acts To Abandon '$30,000 Steps' Of City

City Council Monday night approved the abandonment of what some members termed "the $30,000 steps" on an unopened alley between Lisbon and Alton Sts.

Safety-Service Director Robert Vodrey told members during a caucus session he had four phone calls in one day and one person, not involved in the original suit, threatened to institute proceedings if no action was forthcoming.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper advised Council to abandon the alley and tear down the steps.

The steps cost the city a $30,000 judgment after a city woman was injured in a fall.

The action to approve the closing was taken during the regular meeting.

DURING personal privilege, Keith Tucker, a resident of the Lee St. area, asked Council about the results of a meeting with Liverpool Township trustees and three members of council relative to the roadway.

The legislators said one property owner in the area, Michael Pusateri, has agreed to grade the road, but will not relinquish the property to the city.

Carter Tucker, another resident on whose land the street lies, said he has plans for the property. He notified Council he would, however, move the road down the hillside.

Keith Tucker said he was told a recent attorney general's opinion said a road used over 20 years was public property and Tucker declared the street has been there 40 years. Council will continue the investigation.

Four ordinances were passed. One will allow the safety-service director to advertise for bids on a new half-ton pickup truck for the street department to replace a 1960 model no longer fit for service.

Another raises the salary of the court clerk, Wilbur Harmon, to $5,620 a year. A third authorizes the Board of Public Utilities to advertise for bids to repair the No. 2 standpipe on Harvey Ave. Council received a letter from the Freemont Co. stating the repairs and cleaning would run about $3,500. The fourth ordinance calls for advertising for bids and contracting for the purchase of supplies for the street, incinerator, police and fire departments. Included in the purchases will be: 15,000 gallons of gasoline, 500 gallons of motor oil, 1,000 gallons of diesel fuel, 200 gallons of hydraulic oil, 300 tons of road salt and 50,000 gallons of road oil.

Upon questioning by Vodrey, Councilman Harold Maylone said he has set a session for next Wednesday to consider action on the old city garage on Lisbon St.

Harmon notified Council he is raising the salaries of his deputy clerks $10 a month.

COUNCIL sent to the finance committee a bill from Daniel Ziegler of Carroll V. Hill and Associates, amounting to $50 for attendance at the public hearings on the proposed zoning ordinance.

The rules committee recommended meetings during June, July and August be held only on the third Monday of the month.

Council President Ernest Lowe told members he believes the planning committee should launch an investigation in view of Monday's announcement by the city's three funeral homes that they will discontinue ambulance sevice beginning July 15. Lowe said he hopes there will be definite word of a solution by the next meeting.

Councilwoman Donna Wilson said she believes the hospital should be called in on the talks, too. She indicated her feelings are that the city is not responsible for operating ambulances and a private concern should take over the business.

Councilman Frank Duffy told of complaints from Michigan Ave. residents concerning trucks which pass their homes on the way to the Dakar Chemical Co. He reported the road is being torn up by their movements and asked if they couldn't instead use Harvey Ave.

Japanese Takeover Seen By Ceramic Tile Officials

Charges the U.S. ceramic tile industry is at the mercy of a Japanese cartel that fixes prices and quantities and engages in other illegal and improper practices are in the hands of the U.S. Tariff Commission.

The charges were made by the Ceramic Tile Manufacturers of the United States at a four-day hearing last week in Washington, D.C. The hearing was held at the request of the House Ways and Means Committee.

SEVERAL area ceramic tile manufacturers said they have been hurt by the alleged Japanese practices that were discussed at the hearing. John Cable, board chairman of U.S. Ceramic Tile Co., is vice president of the Ceramic Tile Manufacturers.

The House Ways and Means Committee asked the commission to examine competitive conditions and supply information on pricing and distribution of floor and wall tile produced in the U.S. and foreign countires.

The Ceramic Tile Manufacturers asked that steps be taken to combat "conspiratorial pricing practices and distribution methods" and restore the U.S. market to conditions that prevailed before take-over by the Japanese industry.

HORACE J. DePODWIN, economic consultant and dean of Rutgers University Graduate School of Business Administration, said the long run objective of the Japanese cartel is to drive U.S. producers out of their market and then retain monopoly control.

The cartel is made up of Japanese manufacturers, exporters and the large trading companies, all with the help of U.S. importers, he said.

Since origin of the cartel in 1958 the Japanese have captured two-thirds of the floor tile market and now account for 17 per cent of the wall tile market, he said.

Paul Pelfrey, president of the United Brick & Clay Workers of America, said the U.S. industry now has less than 7,000 workers against 12,000 10 years ago.

Wouldn't you really rather drive a bargain?

Buick Bargain Days are here!

You'll just love easier—better electric cooking.

Food is easy to prepare electrically because there's an accurate flow of heat for positive cooking control. Means less meat shrinkage . . . more succulent flavor in all electrically prepared foods. And the whole range is fully automatic.

An electric range is easier to keep spotless, too. Removable surface units are easy to clean. And the oven? Teflon® coated oven walls or removable oven liners make cleaning a snap! And self-cleaning ovens, found only on electric ranges, let you clean the oven automatically by simply pushing a button.

Check the features and operating cost of a flameless range. And, like most everyone, you'll go electric.
